Storm Damage Heavy

ONE-HALF TO MILLION ESTIMATED LOSS IN BIG TEXAS "DUSTER"

THOUSANDS OF ACRES BARED; COLD, CLEAR IS LATEST FORECAST

By The Associated Press

Soil conservation officials today estimated that yesterday's dust storm in the Tulia-Plainview area caused between $500,000 and $1,000,000 damage to crops and land.

Conservation officials at Amarillo said the figures are "guesses" and the total may exceed $1,000,000 when a complete survey is made.

When the sun rose this morning over the Tulia-Plainview section, it revealed thousands of acres of bare soil where yesterday stubbled or green wheat had stood.

WEST TEXAS VISITS.

A Negro porter on Beaton street Thursday laboriously swept the sands of the Panhandle off the sidewalk.

"Sweeping out West Texas, eh?" a nosey passerby inquired.

"Yassuh," the porter replied, giving the broom a more vigorous play, "I just got through guttering Tom Green county."

Wheat Sprouts Cut

Other fields of wheat were covered with the dust and in some cases, wheat sprouts were cut off at the ground by the blowing soil.

The dust storm, pushed by a strong northwesterly wind, drift-

WEATHER HITS HARD BLOWS AT MIDWEST, SOUTHWEST REGIONS

By The Associated Press.

The Midwest and parts of the Southwest staggered today under a bewildering mixture of climactic punches from dying January.

Tornadic winds, snow, sleet, freezing rain, thunder, lightning and hail were the elements that lashed out punishment over a wide area from Eastern Nebraska to Western Ohio and into Arkansas.

A tornado swept through North-Central Arkansas and Southern Missouri, killing at least five persons, injuring 14 and destroying several homes and other buildings. Property damage in the path of the tornado was expected to run into the thousands of dollars.

The tornado hit hardest at Salem, Ark., and in three small communities in Southern Missouri—Thayer, Montier and Hutton Valley. Six persons were injured and 30 homes destroyed in Salem, a town of 570. In Montier, four persons were killed, and one woman was killed at Thayer. Ten to 15 buildings were reported demolished in the Missouri towns.

Temperatures dropped to below zero in Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and a sub-zero reading of 17 at Cutbank, Mont., was the coldest spot on the weather map. Throughout the snow and rain belt, however, temperatures generally were in the 20's.

Snow and sleet ranging from eight to 12 inches fell in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska.

New Tornado Kills 3, Hurts At Least 15

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 30.—(AP)—At least three persons were reported killed today and 30 others injured, some of them critically, when a tornado struck the outskirts of Montgomery, lifted then hit again at Kent, Ala., about 30 miles to the northeast.

The dead were at Kent, and the state highway patrol said the toll may be even higher. The patrol said it had an unconfirmed report that four had been killed and its information still was incomplete.

All the dead were negroes, said Clinton Mann, an undertaker at Tallassee, about six miles from Kent. Mann said they were a 3-year old child and two adults.

Eleven were reported injured in another storm at Bethel, Ala., south of here.

Estimates of the number of injured ranged up to 27. That figure was reported by the highway patrol, but the Tallassee hospital said it had 16 victims, 14 negroes and two white persons.

Roaring in from the southwest, the storm dipped into a rural community two miles past the city limits and just beyond the Army's Gunter Field, only a short distance from where a tornado struck on Feb. 12, 1945, killing 26 persons.

Today's twister cut a swath about a mile long and 200 yards through the sparsely settled community northeast of the city.

Gunter Field's power was cut off but no damage was reported.

All ambulances, highway patrol cars and police cars were rushed to the scene just beyond the Army's Gunter Filed on state highway No. 11

The storm missed the Army post, a telephone operator at Gunter said, passing "just on the edge of us."

Mrs. Mary Cast and her son, whose name was not immediately available, were in their store alongside the highway when the storm demolished the building. They were seriously injured.

Mrs. Kate Harbin said she was in bed at her home and was hurt when the roof caved in.

Spectacular Fire Destroys Million Dollar Flour Mill

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 30—(AP)—A spectacular fire destroyed the $1,000,000 Centennial Flouring Mill plant on Tacoma's waterfront today, and threatened to spread to the big Sperry flour mill nearby.

Centennial's 225 employes left the plant safely shortly after the blaze started about 7:30 a. m. Two hours later firemen gave up hope of saving the plant, and devoted efforts to keepnig the blaze from the Sperry mill, situated just north of Centennial.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Brown snow fell today in the Chicago region. The weather bureau explained the phenomenon was caused by dust in the air raised by high winds yesterday.

BILL WOULD PROVIDE ALMOST 3 MILLION FOR NEGRO COLLEGE

ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW FIRST RATE UNIVERSITY IN TEXAS IS PROPOSED

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 30—(AP)—A bill providing $2,850,000 for establishment of a first class state university for negroes at Houston was introduced in the senate today.

The measure was offered by Sen. Lacy Stewart of Houston, who said that the university of Houston has offered to donate 58 acres for use of the school.

It was the first proposed legislation looking toward improvement of state-supported facilities for higher education for negroes. Such legislation had been recommended by Gov. Beauford H. Jester and retiring Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Negro "A&M"

The measure provides also for establishment, in addition to the state university, of a negro A. and M. at Prairie View.

It also makes an emergency appropriation of $350,000 to the board of directors of Texas A. and M. College to make immediately available all courses in professional education, equivalent to those offered at the University of Texas, at Prairie View.

This appropriation would be utilized while the other two institutions were being set up.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE GETS TALMADGE BILL; WHITE BALLOT VOTED

ATLANTA, Jan. 30—(AP)—Talmadge leaders introduced in the Georgia legislature today their first punitive legislation aimed at quelling official opposition to claims of Herman Talmadge to the disputed governorship of Georgia.

The bill would strip Georgia's attorney general of his power to inquire into activities of public officials, and would force him to accept assistants named by the governor and confirmed by the senate.

The target is Attorney General Eugene Cook, who has refused to recognize Talmadge as governor, and who is representing Talmadge's rival, Lieut.-Gov. M. E. Thompson, in court action to unseat him. Cook recently rejected two assistants nominated by Talmadge, and accepted four others nominated by Thompson.

Meanwhile Talmadge publicly congratulated the house of representatives on passing legislation to restore "white supremacy" in Georgia's Democratic primaries, and called on Talmadge faithful to

British Raid Big Jewish Section As Banker Is Found

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, Jan. 30—(AP)—British troops swooped down on the Montefiore quarter of Jerusalem early this morning and began a house to house search for for the kidnapers of a British banker who stumbled into a clinic dazed and bleeding last night after being held prisoner for 78 hours.

The section—an ancient Jewish quarter outside the old city walls—was cordoned off and several hundred persons were herded into hastily erected screening pens for qustioning. At mid-morning it was announced that six had been detained for further examination.

Police also cordoned off and searched the Jewish industrial suburb of Givat Shaul.

Escape Details Secret

Details as to how the kidnaped banker, H. A. I. Collins, a retired Army major, regained his freedom, were not immediately disclosed. Taken to a hospital, where

Communists Cut Important Rail Line In China

By SPENCER MOOSA.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Communist forces in North China cut the vital Peiping-Tientsin railway today, shortly after the announcement that American military units are being withdrawn from China.

The Communists severed, temporarily at least, the route over which U. S. forces must withdraw from Peiping, site of the truce headquarters that will be abandoned with the end of America's long but futile peace efforts.

Fighting Still Rages.

Associated Press Correspondent John Roderick reported from Tientsin that the railway link was cut at Weishanchuang, about midway between Tientsin and Peiping. Fighting still raged there.

Big Sum Reported Paid For Surplus Goods Sold Abroad

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall told congress today the United States has realized $1,590,000,000, from the sale of overseas property which cost originally $6,800,000,000.

Still left for disposal at the end of 1946 was property with an original cost of $1,365,000,000 which already has been declared surplus and an estimated $2,000,000,000 which will be freed by the armed forces later.

Marshall forwarded the information in a letter to congress transmitting the fourth quarterly report of the foreign liquidation commissioner.

Pay Suit Decision Due

N.A.M., U.S., C.I.O. PRESENT ARGUMENTS IN DETROIT HEARING

MT. CLEMENS CASE IS BEING RE-HEARD ON HIGH COURT ORDERS

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers presented today two alternatives to outright dismissal of more than 4,000,000,000 in portal to portal pay claims against American industry.

Intervening in the trail-blazing Mt. Clemens Pottery Co. case due to be concluded today NAM urged that:

1. Any portal damages granted by the court be limited to time worked after June 10, 1946, the date of the supreme court's important ruling in the Mt. Clemens case:

2. Any portal payments for the period after June 10 be computed on the basis of a regular rate of pay that does not include overtime payments already made. (NAM attorneys explained that, for example, if employes had been paid for 44 hours in a single week and the court found that they had worked 46 hours, the two added hours of overtime be paid for on the basis of the wages drawn for the 40-hour week rather than for the 44-hour week.)

ESTIMATED $35,000 IN COUNTY TAXES DUE FRIDAY NIGHT

An estmiated $35,000 in taxes remained to be collected by Jan. 31, Arnold A. Armstrong, county tax assessor-collector declared Thursday.

The tax office was crowded during the morning as tax payers swarmed in to beat the Friday midnight deadline. Armstrong stated his force was collecting an estimated $5,000 in taxes daily.

Poll tax payments spurted upward Thursday with the number carrying well over the 4,000 mark. The tax assessor again warned those persons living in town and who are eligible for exemptions to come to the office by the deadline.

Those persons living in the city limits of Corsicana and who were 60 years of age on Jan. 1, 1946, are entitled to an exemption, but must obtain the certificate at the office. Those in the same age category living outside of the city limits need only register when voting.

Those persons reaching the age of 21 after Jan. 1, 1946 get a free vote this year and the exemption is needed in the city, but not in the other voting boxes.

HIGHWAY 75 BRIDGE BURNED WITH TRUCK; TRAFFIC IS DETOURED

MEXIA, Tex., Jan. 30—(AP)—A blazing trailer truck set fire to a bridge over Beaver Creek one-half mile south of Centerville on highway 75 last night, disrupting traffic on a main Houston-Dallas highway.

Traffic was being detoured today. Highway department officials estimated it would require two weeks to repair the bridge.

The fire began when a wheel of a trailer truck came off, and the weight of the truck smashed a gasoline tank. Sparks caused by friction apparently set the gasoline afire, which in turn caused 4?0 feet of the wooden bridge to burn.

The truck was owned by the Interstate By-Products and Supply company and was driven by Rily Lee Taylor, 48, of Fort Worth. The truck and its contents, various waste products, were destroyed.

Southbound traffic is being detoured at Richland and northbound at Madisonville.

A.F.L. OPPOSES NEW LABOR LAWS; STUDY GOES ON IN SENATE

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The 15 top policy-makers of the AFL contended today it would be "a tragic mistake" to enact proposed labor-curbing legislation in congress because it would boost the number of strikes.

AFL President William Green said the 15-man executive council which handles affairs of the 7,000,000 AFL members between annual conventions, would attack each of the bills it considered injurious to labor.

Relations Said Improving.

After one day of deliberations, however, the council issued a general denunciation of bills designed to curb labor activities now pending in congress, and said it had reports from throughout the nation that labor-management relations are "constantly improving."

"An era of good feeling is setting in on the industrial front," the council said in a formal statement starting off its winter meeting here.

"Unions and employers are showing a returning confidence in their ability to cope with their mutual problems through peaceful collective bargaining and without any need for outside intervention."

With Green on the council are John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers: William L Hutcheson of the Carpenters, and Daniel J. Tobin of the Teamsters.

Strikes, Lockouts Cited.

All were on hand to discuss the threat of legislation to limit labor activities and to outlaw: (1) the closed shop; (2) jurisdictional strikes; (3) secondary boycotts.

"Demands for such legislation," the council said, "have gained support because of the wave of strikes and lockouts which took

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(AP)—The American Licomotive company asked congress today to curb the power of national unions by breaking up industry-wide bargaining.

On the other hand, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said that any bill to curb unions should also contain privisions to break up big business into smaller units.

C. Dickerman Williams, vice-president and general counsel of the locomotive firm, made his appeal in testimony prepared for the senate labor committee.

Pepper Plans Questions

Pepper, a member of the committee, told a reporter he and other Democrats would ask all industry witnesses what they proposed to do about the size and power of big business.

Thus this Democrat strategy emerged: To insist on coupling any curbs on unions with a strengthening of the anti-trust laws—as proposed by President Truman.

The senate committee is conducting general hearings on bills to revise the labor laws. One of these, sponsored by Senator Ball (R-Minn) would do what Williams urged—restrict labor-management negotiations to a single company, or to firms in a single locality.

Bargaining System Assailed

Williams said American Locomotive had contracts at four plants with the CIO United Steel Workers of America (USWA), and that the International USWA establishes and controls the bargaining policies of its local unions.

"The company cannot have true collective bargaining with its employes when all agreements must be decided upon and ratified by the USWA International," Williams said.

ENOUGH VOTES SAID ON HAND TO BEAT STRAIGHT TAX CUT; RIVAL LEADERS NEARLY COME TO BLOWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Rep. Engle (R-Mich), said today there are enough votes in the house to kill the Republican-backed bill to slash individual income taxes 20 percent across the board.

"It never will pass in its present form," Engel told reporters after the house tossed over to the senate the bill freezing excise levies on so-called luxury items at wartime rates.

Urged by President Truman and sponsored by Republicans, the excise measure passed the house yesterday 373 to 35.

Senate Passage Seen.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), said he expects this bill to pass the senate unchanged, although some senators indicated privately they intend to battle for somewhat lower levies on jewelry, furs, telephones and transportation.

The freeze legislation prevents automatic rollback of the excise rates on July 1, which would cast the treasury $1,300,000,000 a year in revenue.

Rep. McCormack (Mass), the house Democratic whip, charged during yesterday's debate that Republicans had reversed their position to support the excise freeze "so they can put through a windfall tax reduction for the big taxpayers."

Knutson Cites Truman.

But Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), who wrote the 20 per cent income tax bill, retorted that "this is a historic occasion: the Republicans are being criticized and castigated for following a recommendation of the President."

Engel lashed out at Knutson's bill as one that gives only meager relief to the poor but large benefits to the rich. The Michigan Republican declared its passage might "spell defeat" for the GOP in 1948.

Engel has insisted that any tax cutting should benefit low income groups most.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Differences over taxes flared into an angry exchange of bitter words and near blows in the House cafeteria today between Reps. Knutson (R-Minn) and Engel (R-Mich.)

At one point, Engel grabbed Knutson's arm but colleagues said no blows were struck, although the verbal punches flew thick and fast.

Knutson is the main house champion of a 20 per cent cut in individual income taxes.

On the house floor yesterday, Engel declared this would help the poor very little while giving large benefits to persons with high incomes. He said that if the GOP-dominated congress makes such a cut it might "spell defeat" for the Republican party in 1948.

When the two met in the House cafeteria for breakfast this morning, witnesss said, Knutson told Engel he was "following the CIO line" in opposing the cut.

Engel told newsmen later, laughing, that "after Harold made that remark, he started to run, and I wouldn't let hml."

Engel said he took Knutson by the arm and the Minnesotan jerked away.

"I wouldn't have hit him for anything," Engle said.

Knutson declined to comment.

TRUMAN SETS MARCH 6 TO BE IN WACO TO RECEIVE HONOR

BAYLOR TO PRESENT DEGREE, CAUSE OF FORMER CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—President Truman today completed arrangements to visit Mexico City March 3, Waco, Tex., March 6, and San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 10.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the chief executive will confer with President Miguel Aleman in Mexico, receive an honorary degree from Baylor University at Waco and witness Atlantic fleet maneuvers off Puerto Rico.

He said the time of the president's departure by plane for Mexico City was undetermined but that he will arrive in the Mexican capital at 10 a.m. (Central Standard Time) Monday, March 3.

11 A. M. Ceremony Set.

He will be in Mexico—though not necessarily all that time in Mexico City—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and fly on Thursday, March 6 to Waco to receive the Baylor University degree at a ceremony at 11 a.m. (CST).

The degree aroused a controversy among Texas Baptists when it was first proposed in the fall of 1945. The Baptist General Conference of Texas adopted a resolution urging Baylor to withhold the honor or because of what the resolution described as Mr. Truman's "reported attitude" toward poker playing.

The Waco visit will end with a luncheon which the president will have with University President Pat Neff, former Texas governor. Mr. Truman will make a brief address at the ceremony. After the luncheon, he will fly directly back to Washington.

To Visit Puerto Rico

"Soon thereafter," Ross told reporters, "a trip is scheduled that will take the president to San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he will arrive in the morning of Monday, March 10 by plane.

NEFF, OTHER BAYLOR OFFICIALS WILL NOT TALK ABOUT DISPUTE

WACO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, confirming that President Truman would receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University in March, refused to comment today on action of the Texas General Baptist convention in November, 1945, which objected to giving a degree to Mr. Truman.

Dr. J. T. Harrington, president of the Baylor board of trustees, likewise refused comment.

The convention urged Baylor to withhold a degree proposed at that time because of what the resolution described as Mr. Truman's "reported attitude" toward "gambling and drinking."

Baylor officials announced later the school would confer the degree regardless of the conference action but Mr. Truman cancelled his scheduled trip to Waco because of pressing capitol business.

Neff today said he had not announced previously the forthcoming award of the degree because "I had given the president's secretary my word no announcement would come from Baylor ahead of the White House release."

Baylor authorities said the date and time of the ceremony would depend upon Truman's itinerary.

DISPUTE BETWEEN A&M CADETS, ADMINISTRATION HEADING FOR CLARIFICATION AFTER MEETING

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The situation created at Texas A. and M. College by the mass resignation of approximately 200 officers of the Cadet Corps appeared headed toward clarification today.

Senior officers of the corps voted last night to return to their military organizations and said they hoped to reassume their positions of authority.

In a statement issued after a closed meeting of the senior class they said they would ask that their commissions be restored "because we feel we owe a duty to constituted authority to carry out our duties as representatives of the U. S. Army. We will carry out the orders of the military authorities of the college."

They also expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of the military department of the school.

The Dallas Morning News in a story signed by its correspondent Charles Burton said today the officers voted "to return to their units and to ask for the reignation of the school head."

The News said "the decision to ask for Gibb Gilchrist's resignation came in the form of a motion reported to have ben passed by a large majority in the closing session."

Such a resolution was not mentioned in the statement the seniors issued after the meeting. Officials of the school declined last night to comment on the report.

12 Proposals Made

In their statement the seniors said they had drafted 12 proposals which they felt would give them more voice in student government and hoped college officials would act favorably on them.

The proposals included a request that cadet officers be granted more voice in issuing orders to the corps, senior priviliges for freshmen and two weeks advance notice of impending changes in major regulations.

They also asked for a change in the system of selecting faculty panels to try students charged with major infractions of college rules and a senior court to try cases of a minor nature, and that no military officer be housed in student dormitories.

Uniform Change Opposed

Other requests were for the privelege of keeping the present uniform if desired by majority vote, that seniors be given the right to ratify cadet officers nominated by college authorities, removal of threats to deprive cadet officers of advanced ROTC contracts, that extra military drill be permitted if company commanders deem it necessary and early removal of all freshmen students from the A. and M. college annex at Bryan Army Air Field to the main campus.

'ALICE' BOYLE IN CAPITAL WONDERLAND

(Hal Boyle, who covered fifty foreign countries in four years overseas, has gone alone and unarmed on an exploring trip through darkest Washington, D. C. The first dispatch by "the poor man's philosopher" to reach the outer world follows:)

By HAL BOYLE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here am I in this strange village by a broad flowing river which the friendly natives have named the Potomac, probably after some forgotten chieftain.

The world I knew is very far away. Shall I ever see it again?

In the event some unknown mishap should befall me, I have scrawled these brief notes so that some record may be left to guide future explorers who chance upon this unusual community.

I have discovered no place quite like it in adventurous travels on five contenents.

Two "Tribes" Seen

It appears to be inhabited by two warring tribes, one called "Democrats," the other "Republicans." An overwhelming majority of the residents neither till the soil nor fish in the river for their sustenance. Nor do they engage in trade.

They appear to earn their livelihood by obscure labors in huge community stone huts jointly set up by the two great tribes to avoid bloodshed.

There are signs that these vast tepees are unhealthful at night. For by 5:30 p.m., they are emptied, the workers fleeing pell mell and swarming aboard public vehicles at the risk of life and limb to escape to the security of the salubrious suburbs.

Food Shipped In

In this mad race to leave the public building area by dusk men hostle heedlessly past women and children. I must look into this mysterious peril that affraights them.

Food and supplies of wampum to sustain the inhabitants of Washington—a most euphonious name—are shipped in from time to time by outside communities grateful for their efforts.

These contributions do not always, however, appear to be voluntary. Often they are really levies, and one in particular—called the "income tax"—has stirred up considerable resentment among the outlanders.

The battlefield for the two tribes is the interior of one of the largest stone tepees, cunningly designed to segregate the big chiefs, known as "senators," from the more numerous smaller chiefs, called "congressmen."

Atop the big dome of the tepee is a bronze statue of an early native hero called "E Pluribus Unum." The "E" probably stands for "Edward" as that is a common name among this people.

The object of each tribe appears to be to get the most "senators" and "congressmen" on the battlefield at one time. The "Republicans" are jubilant because they are leading in both council lodges.

It appears this hasn't happened to the "Republicans" for some time. The "Democrats" insist the situation is only temporary.

I must now set down an interesting experience that befell me.

Before setting out from Manhattan I inquired of a friend what weapons I should bring along to protect me. My friend is loosely connected with the "Tammanyites," which he told me was a powerful subdivision of the "Democrats."

Knowing my history he advised that I carry no arms, credentials or passports except my Missouri birth certificate, because, he explained:

"A Missouri man emigrated to Washington several years ago and has risen pretty high. Look him up."

(Tomorrow: Tribal government in the joint tepee).

U. S. MAY GET MUCH MORE SUGAR THIS YEAR; GENERAL INCREASE IN RENTS BLOCKED BY TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) today opened a senate inquiry into rents with assertion that it "rests squarely upon the landlord" to prove any need for higher rent ceilings.

Tobey is chairman of the senate banking committee making the investigation. There was no immediate explanation ot yesterday's mixup in which an OPA order proposing to boost ceilings 10 percent was quashed by the White House before it could be issued.

The committee originally was scheduled to hear government witnesses today but Tobey said none would be present. This postponed the appearance of James W. Fillin, deputy administrator of the office of temporary controls, who had been expected to explain the mystery of the shortlived rent increase order.

Fair Play Seen

"We believe the average American wants to play fairly," Tobey said in a statement.

"If the landlord is being discriminated against, if he is nit getting a fair return on his investment, the American people will want to do something about it, but the American people want to be shown.

"The burden of proving that rent control should be abolished or revised is placed squarely upon the landlord."

See RENT, Page 9

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The United States has asked for sufficient sugar from this year's world supply to allow an average of 95.1 pounds per person. Consumption last year averaged about 73 pounds.

This quantity would be divided among individual consumers and industrial users. Last year individuals got ration allowance of 25 pounds. The rest went to industrial users, such as candy makers, soft drink bottlers and bakers.

The American request has been laid before the international food emergency council, and inter-governmental agency which recommends division of export supplies of foods in short supply among importing nations.

In a report issued today, the council estimated the 1947 world sugar supply at 30,100,000 short tons, raw value. This compares with a world consumption of 26,700,000 last year and with a pre-war average consumption of 32,500,000 tons.

Pre-war consumption in this country averaged 103.2 pounds a year.

The American request for a 1947, a per capita supply of 95.1 pounds compares with requests of 92.3 for the United Kingdom 95.3 for Canada, 70 for Belgium and 15.5 for Italy.

TAX PAYMENTS AT COUNTY OFFICE LAG DURING FINAL WEEK

EXEMPTIONS NECESSARY FOR AGED VOTERS IN CITY OF CORSICANA

Arnold A. Armstrong, county tax assessor-collector, announced Tuesday his office had collected $54,400 in taxes of an estimated $97,000 still due on Jan. 1, when he took office.

The office passed the 4,000 mark in poll tax receipts Tuesday. Deadline for paying taxes is midnight, Jan. 31.

Armstrong warned all persons living in the city limits of Corsicana and who were 60 years of age on Jan. 1, 1946, they are entitled to an exemption, but will have to obtain it from the office in order to vote. Those in the category living outside of the city limits need not obtain the exemption in order to cast a ballot.

Those persons reaching the age of 21 after Jan. 1, 1946, get a free vote this year and the exemption is needed in the city but not in the other voting boxes. That exemption is also to be obtained at the office.

R. H. MAYS FUNERAL SERVICE HELD AT KERENS ON FRIDAY

KERENS, Jan. 28.—(Spl.)—Funeral services for R. H. Mays, 59, native Kerens resident, who died Thursday, were held Friday afternoon from the First Baptist church. The rites were conducted by Dr. E. R. Page, pastor, assisted by Rev. J. W. Sprinkle, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. C. Pipin, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Mays was the son of Dr. R. J. and Mrs. Addie Mays. He was married to Miss Cresidus Reese in 1911.

After being engaged in the dry goods business for many years, Mays was secretary of the Chamber of Commerce until ill health caused his retirement. He devoted considerable time to his church work, teaching the Adult Bible class which he organized many years ago. His hobby was flowers.

Surviving are his wife, a sister, Mrs. B. Siegler, San Antonio, and other relatives.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the services were Mrs. Siegler, Mr. and Mrs. Valdemar Fearis and Diane, all of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Higginbotham, Mr. and Mrs. George Simonds, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ford and Mrs. Virgil High, all of Dallas; Mrs. George Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Delahay and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lloyd, all of Corsicana; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Queen, Rice; Mr. and Mrs. John Joplin, of Rusk; Mrs. W. F. Miller, Miss Mable McElroy, Mrs. R. M. O'Pitz and Nancy Ann, and Mesdames H. V. Ware, Harris and Tolbert, all of Trinidad; Mrs. C. W. Brown, Vernon Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rhodes, all of Bremond; M. A. Reese, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ford, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McLean, all of Grand Prairie; Mrs. J. H. Parker, Gainesville; Mrs. George Edwards and Miss Georgia Root, both of Lufkin.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Black Hills Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. John Montgomery Monday afternoon. Mrs. L. O. Sutton led the song service.

Mrs. Hugh Parrish gave the opening prayer.

Following a short business session, Mrs. J. C. Johnson, president, turned the meeting over to Mrs. M. M. Pike, who had charge of the program.

Mrs. Elsie Pattison taught the Bible lesson, Colossians Chapter 3.

Mrs. M. M. Pike gave the closing prayer.

At the social hour, the hostess, Mrs. Montgomery served cake and peaches with iced grape juice.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Elsie Pattison.

Announce Arrival of Son.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Autry announce the arrival of a son, James Frank, Jr., at Florence Nightingale Hospital in Dallas on Sunday, January 26th. The new arrival tipped the scales at nine pounds and one ounce.

Mrs. Autry was the former Ann Galbreath, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Galbreath of California, and Dr. Frank Autry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Autry of 1500 Woodlawn Avenue, Corsicana.

Dr. Autrey will graduate from Baylor Dental College in March, 1947. He and Mrs. Autrey are now making their home with their grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Bright, 4608 Columbia, Dallas.

MORE INTEREST IN GOVERNMENT URGED BY C OF C SPEAKER

LOCAL ORGANIZATION'S ANNUAL BANQUET HEARS HIGH RANKING OFFICIAL

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff.

The American people "do not deserve any better government than we have" until the citizens "take a more active participation in its functions," D. Hodson Lewis of Dallas, manager of the Southwestern division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce told 300 Chamber of Commerce members and their wives at the annual banquet of the organization held Tuesday night at the High school cafeteria.

Lewis, who lashed out at Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach during his speech, declaring "there have been more strikes during his administration than at any other time in history," spoke on the responsibility of a citizen as a citizen. He stressed thorough, objective study of the government and its activities, with the view of "doing something about it."

"Everywhere one sees the businessman butting his brains out complaining about conditions," he said. "And they never write their representatives in Washington telling them about it.

Little Difference.

"Don't believe, as many think they do, that just because there is now a new element in Washington things are going to be different and all right. As long as there is minority pressure, selfish interests, personal aspirations still there things are going to remain about the same. You should make yourself heard, and I should make myself heard, just as the minority groups do."

Cities do not "just grow," Lewis told the audience. They grow or they pass out of existence "unless people with vision, aspiration and leadership assume the responsibility."

He cited the decline of the South as a world power, slumping as it did following the Civil War.

"Ninety years ago the South dominated the wealth of the United States,' he said. "New Orleans had 80 percent of the exporting business. The South was rich in itself. But the fertile Yankee brain got busy.

"The Northerners and Easterners balanced economy with industry, and soon railroads were radiating out of the northeast. The South began to slip back. Perhaps you say 'the Civil War did it.' That is not so. Let us compare the progress of Canada with that of Mexico. Canada, far ahead, did the same thing—it balanced economy with industry while Mexico hasn't."

Rapped Low Pay.

The chamber executive rapped the policy of low pay for school teachers, declaring the influence of the teacher on the child is greater in most instances than that of the parent.

"It is time to get concerned when teachers go on strike," he told the audience. He cited examples of school janitors drawing more than teachers, saying the national average wage of principals and superintendents today was only about $1900, compared with $1441 a few years ago.

"I hear people becoming alarmed because they believe Communism is gripping the teachers.

"I wonder sometimes if they are not tempted to talk certain philosophies of Communism, considering their pay. I regret to say it, but it is a fact."

Lewis pleaded with the group to assert itself as individuals in operation of the government.

"Ours is the only surviving country with a free democracy," he said. "Are you going to just sit here and enjoy it, or are you going to remember it was bought at a price and we owe it something, too?

Be Citizens, Not Drones.

"If you and I save this country of ours and save for ourselves our way of living, it will be because we become citizens instead of drones. We must quit cussing the government and participate in it."

Lewis was introduced by Joe F. Butler, who informed him that "being speaker at a chamber of commerce banquet in Corsicana does have its rewards. Our speaker last year is now governor of Texas."

John R. Corley, re-elected Tuesday for a second term as president, reviewed the activities of the group during 1946, and asked the "same co-operation during 1947 that you have given me during 1946."

New officers and directors of the organization were introduced to the crowd.

Fred H. Harvey, Jr., chairman of the industrial committee, referred to the written report of activities of his group, as he made his annual statement of accomplishments of this vital body.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Out-of-town guests introduced by J. Floyd Smith included E. C. Butler and Rex Farmer of Emhouse; Howell Brister, G. M. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Westbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seale and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reece of Kerens; Sid McKinnon, Ralph Jones and Mr. and Mrs H. H. Hawks, Mexia; S. C. O'Neal, manager traffic and transportation department, and William S. Hammond, of the Waco Chamber of Commerce; Curtis Morris, East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Longview.

Herman Roberts was toastmaster, and John F. Adams, general chairman of the banquet. Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor of the First Methodist church, offered the invocation. The Texas Rounders furnished music during dinner.

The cafeteria was beautifully decorated for the annual affair. Mrs. W. H. Hastings was chairman of the committee in charge of decorations, and was assisted by Mrs. L. S. Cooper, Mrs. Dave Walker, Robert Cason, W. P. McCammon and W. H. Norwood.

Ralph R. Brown, vice chairman on general arrangements, prepared the menu for the banquet.

TEMPLE HARGROVE IS BACK AND MAY SINK ANOTHER DEEP WELL

Navarro county oil interests picked up Wednesday with the return to the city of Temple Hargrove, noted wildcatter who pioneered the deep exploration in the Richland area.

Hargrove revealed he would be in the city for an indefinite stay pending results on a pumping test at Guy Wallace No. 1, John Jonse survey, two miles south of Richland.

The well, which came in under its own power after 24 preforations in the Rhodessa section, ceased production a few months ago. The operator expressed confidence the well would be a producer again

Hargrove declined to make a definite sattement on the speculation in oil circles of another drilling venture, but did say he was thinking seriously about another Rhodessa test in the vicinity of the present well.

He recently purchased the interests of his partners in the Golden Meadow field in Louisiana, near New Orleans and now operates as an independent.

The Guy Wallace well boosted interest in further oil exploration in oil rich Navarro county.

Naval Recruiters Here.

J. G. Parks, chief commissary steward, and J. W. Anderson, chief electricians mate, Waco, naval recruiting service, were in Corsicana Wednesday morning.

Commander Wm. T. Zink, officer in charge of the Dallas recruiting area, will be in Waco Feb. 3-7 to administer the oath to all men interested in the U. S. N. R. Men interested in the inactive reserve may see the recruiter in Waco on the above days.

It Happened 25 Years Ago Today

(From the Files of The Corsicana Daily Sun)

Three aviators landed near Corsicana on their way from Canada to Mexico. They were mapping the route and will hold an air meet in Corsicana in two or three weeks.

Corsicana and Mexia will round out the eight club Texas-Oklahoma league. Other clubs in the league are Ardmore, Cleburne, Bonham, Paris, Sherman, and Mineral Wells. Dude Ransom, well known Corsicana player and former team mate of Tris Speaker is considered the likely manager of the Corsicana team. Interested citizens put up $1,500 and will build the park for the team. An outside financier will put up $1,500.

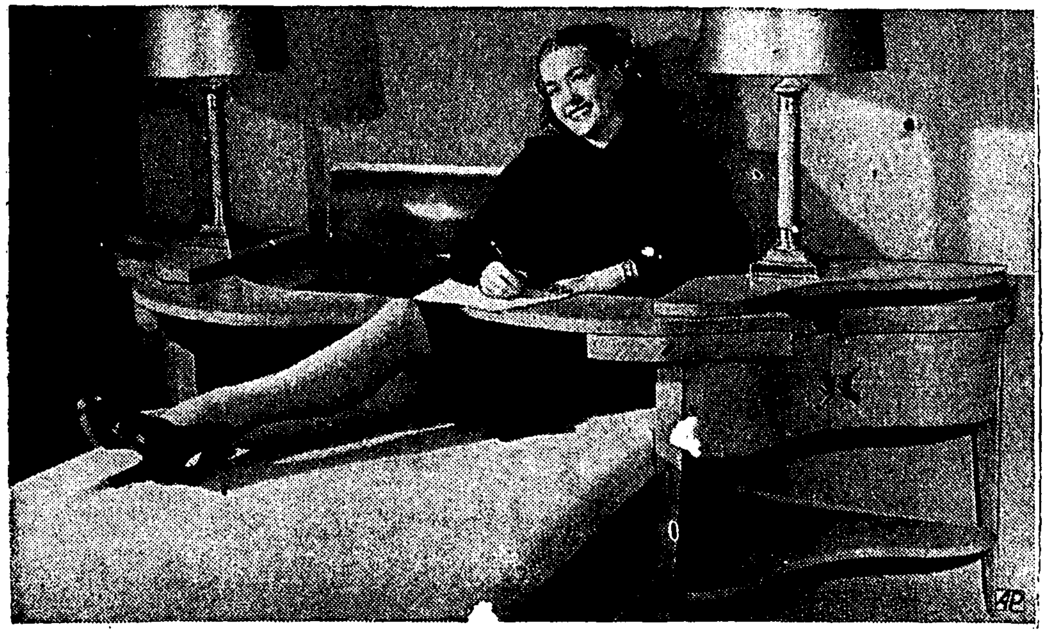
FURNITURE: "Modified Modern"



TRICK TABLE . . . Donnah Larson demonstrates triple-duty table shown at furniture show in Chicaga Merchandise Mart. Table has extension arm and spaces for both a telephone and radio as well as shelf for magazines. Designed for bed lollers

By EDWARD S. KITCH
AP Newsfeatures.

CHICAGO—Mrs. America will be able to furnish her home according to her own tastes, whether it be color or design.

New furnishings shown during the international home furnishings market here gave evidence of what furniture designers and decorators have in mind for her. It emphasized simplicity with dashes of color.

Combining old with new, furniture manufacturers have turned to the newest trend—an informal, modified modern.

Some makers have used traditional design and joined it with the comfort and utility of the new.

One exhibit during the winter show exemplified the harmonious blending of the old and new theme in a room decoration by using lamps made of tea canisters and old Italian prints with modern furniture.

Contrasting colors in furniture and drapery fabrics are as varied as the styles, ranging from soft pastels and muted tones to brilliant shades.

Glass fabrics in a variety of prints and color ranges and a material composed of 45 percent aralac, 35 percent wool and 20 percent cotton are among the new drapery materials.

New uses for wood and metal have found a place in furniture design. Molded plywood furniture of functional design, perfected by war research, was shown extensively. The wood and glue and color are so impregnated as to make the furniture impervious to atmosphere.

BATTERED YELLOW JAIL ROSTER CONTAINS VIVID DESCRIPTIONS OF PRISONERS IN YESTERYEARS

By A. T. CANANT
Daily Sun Staff.

In the days when Corsicana was just a hamlet and there was little reason to believe that it would ever grow larger, a new county jailer opened the first page of a new jail record book, signed his name, and wrote under it, "Long to Be Remembered, This Jail Record."

His prediction was wrong. Few people, if any, remember the record, but anyone who picks up the battered yellow pages of the 65-year old roster of prisoners will remember with some amusement the terse, vivid descriptions of his clients.

In the column headed "Special Remarks Concerning Prisoners" the jailer recorded, in his own brief style, his impressions of each prisoners. Some he noted down with tongue in cheek, others were serious descriptions, and some he allowed the prisoner to write—by proxy.

Cautious Remarks.

In the first few entries the cryptic county servant was cautious, and stuck more or less to the facts. One prisoner was noted down thus: "Mustache and Goatee—Drinks and Curses." Another, booked on a charge of false swearing, "Drinks and Chews--Bad Character."

Later, however, he became possessed of the sureness that comes with practice, and his caricatures became more descriptive. A man accused of having two wives he described simply as "Bad After Women." One elusive character booked for aggravated assault, had the disposition of his case recorded as "Settled by Leg Bail." In other words, he escaped.

At times the old recorder waxed eloquent, and gave forth with passages worthy of a congressman's vocabulary.

He said that a horse thief, who got five years for his heinous crime, "Takes Them by the Drove." One of the best one-line descriptions was that made about a man who was booked for the theft of a coat. "I Was Cold and You Gave Me No Coat."

Seldom at a loss for the right word or phrase, the unknown chronicler of the jail saga knew when to let the prisoner write his own caricature. One despairing resident proclaimed dolefully that "Hard Times Brought Me Here," ignoring the charge of theft laid against him. Another was overcome with curiosity and stated that "I Wanted to See the Jail."

One prisoner who must have possessed some theatrical potentialities, received top billing as "Frost's Emblem of Innocence," and his offense was described as "all things bad."

The literary heights to which our friend the jailer might have risen were never learned, for he left his job after a short term. Perhaps he found a better market for his descriptive talents. At any rate, he left, and his successor rarely took pen in hand to add color to his records, and the jail book went back into the class of records such as warranty deeds and other legal documents.

THREE YOUTHS ARE HELD AS RESULT OF STATION BURGLARY

Three Corsicana boys, who police charged, received their baptism of gunfire early Thursday morning and fled, leaving a stolen automobile and a burglarized filling station behind them, were being questioned by Chief of Police Bruce Nutt Thursday morning.

The boys, two of them 15, and one 17, were arrested early Thursday morning, after Police Officers Kelly, Powell and Chapman fired on them as they left the George Owens service station, 600 West Second avenue at Fifteenth street, at 1 a. m., Chief Nutt said.

A spotlight and foglight were found outside the filling station. Between $20 and $30 was missing, police said.

Bryan Car Found.

Outside also was a 1939 model Chevrolet, which was stolen from F. A. Ludwig, Bryan, on Jan. 21. The car had been in Corsicana for several days, and police had been watching for it. License plates had been changed.

The youths apparently were preparing to leave the station when police were notified. Shots aroused the neighborhood.

Early Thursday morning Chief Nutt had a neatly dressed 15-year old boy in his office. The boy was wearing a blue knit cap and a clean, blue sports jacket.

Within half an hour Police Officer Kelsey Blakeney had brought in two other youths.

Two Confessed Later.

One, 17 years old, denied any complicity in the burglary.

The other, an oversized youth of 15, whose father sat in the police headquarters and just looked at him, was to talk with the police chief.

The father of the big youth turned the older and smallest boy, saying, "You boys just couldn't keep out of meanness?"

"Not me," the boy replied, "I don't know anything about this. I don't know why they brought me down here."

Chief Nutt following questioning of the boys, planned to turn them over to juvenile authorities Thursday morning.

NAVARRO'S BULLDOGS TAKE WESTMINSTER BY 64 TO 37 COUNT

Navarro Junior College Bulldogs, hungry for a spot in the victory column, rose to great heights Tuesday night in Tehuacana to trample the Westminster college five by a 64-37 count.

Paced by Chunkin' Charlie Smith with 20, Littlejohn with 16, and Bryant with 15 points, the Scarlet and White cagers ran wild in a scoring orgy that buried Westminster deep in the cellar.

Battling apparently by himself, Moody took high scoring honors for Westminster and for the evening with a grand total of 21 marks, racking up over half of his teams points.

The win gave Navarro a lone victory against three defeats at the hands of Hillsboro, Temple, and Clifton colleges. The Bulldogs played the first half of round robin play away and will now engage the four opponents on home territory.

NEED FOR HOSPITAL EXPANSION CITED IN CIVITAN CLUB TALK

Members of the Civitan club met in their regular Thursday luncheon meeting at the Navarro Hotel dining room and heard Paul Moore, secretary-treasurer of the county hospital board, discuss the past history and the present status of the P. and S. Hospital.

Moore, who has held his present post for some years, quoted figures on the income cost of operation, services rendered, and other aspects of the present hospital situation. Pointing out that the P. and S. Hospital in inadequate, and has been for some time, he stated that:

The hospital is not equipped to handle the present number of maternity cases.

More Facilities Needed.

A need for more rooms and facilities has caused a "mad scramble" for rooms at present. A 100-bed hospital is needed where we now have accommodations for only 55 beds.

The cost per patient per day has more than doubled since 1940, and indications are that it will remain at that figure.

Under present conditions, only emergency cases can be taken.

Moore compared the Navarro county hospital with that of other counties of comparable size and population, showing that it has operated more efficiently than most of the others.

SOCIAL SECURITY OF DEAD VETERANS MUST BE CLAIMED FEB. 10

Only a few days remain for eligible survivors of veterans who died after their discharge from the armed forces and before Aug. 10, 1946, to file their claims for social security benefits payable back to the time of the veteran's death.

Those World War II veterans' survivors who may qualify should apply for benefits at once to avoid possible loss of money, A. A. Moerbe, officer in charge of the Waco office of the Social Security Administration, warned today.

The 1946 veterans' amendment to the social security act provides monthly cash benefits for dependents of ex-service personnel who died or will die, within three years after discharge, leaving their survivors without compensation or pensions from the Veterans Administration.

Survivors of ex-servicemen who died before enactment of the amendment on August 10, 1946, were given six months in which to apply for benefits payable back to the date of the veteran's death. That six-month period expires on Feb. 10, 1947. Social security benefits generally are payable retroactively for a maximum period of three montahs prior to the time claim is filed.

The social security office in Waco is located at 605 Medical Arts building.

Attorney's Report Filed.

The office of county attorney ended 1946 with a profit, figures contained in the annual fee report filed with the district clerk Tuesday showed.

The report filed by J. C. Roe, former county attorney, showed a profit of $332.92. Total fees earned were listed at $9,803.97, and the figure for authorized deductions was $9,471.05.

SLAYING SUSPECT—A man who gave his name as Daniel S. Voorhees is shown in police headquarters at Los Angeles after he walked in, and said, according to police Capt. Dead Prince Goes Home.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Swedish warship Oscar II left Copenhagen harbor early today carrying the body of Prince Gustaf Adolf, grandson of Sweden's King, to his homeland for burial.

The prince, heir to the Swedish throne, was killed Sunday in a plane crash which claimed the lives of 21 other persons, including the American singer, Grace Moore.

GREATEST MIRACLE MEANT DOOM FOR MIRACLE-WORKER HIMSELF*

Raising of Lazarus Fixed Determination of Sanhedrin to Slay Jesus - - City Stirred by Restoration to Life of Friend of Jesus - - The Mystery of Death

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

One classification of news is never absent from the papers—death notices. Callously they are handled as routine. An echo comes back from my "printer's devil" days, when the make-up man would cry: "Two galleys of 'stiffs'" or three or whatever the day's supply of death notices.

Even as a boy I cringed from this careless treatment of a concentration of deepest personal grief. Every one of those scores or hundreds of fine-type paragraphs representeed tragedy to somebody. We all assent to the inevitableness of death as a general proposition; but it must enter our own inner circle before we realize its awesomeness. Then it becomes as real as if it had never before happened to anybody.

Into a Family of Friends

Such grief struck the family of Martha and Mary and Lazarus, the intimate friends of Jesus. Lazarus was ill unto death, and the distraught sisters sent for Jesus, who did not come immediately.

We ponder the vast theme of the delayed providences of God: the prayers that are not answered immediately. God has a timetable not like man's. Ours is the short look; His is the long. The real answer to an urgent prayer may be delayed for years, for God's inscrutable purposes. As God is patient with us, so we must be patient with Him. An Italian proverb says, "God does not pay every Saturday—but He always pays."

Although deeply concerned, for this was a family of dearest friends, to whom His love outpoured, Jesus did not respond immediately to the call of the sisters He tarried for two days where He was, and apparently spent two days in traveling to Bethany.

There he encountered loving reproaches from Martha and Mary. "Master, if Thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." Little did the sisters understand what greater blessing was in store for them. God always, ultimately, answers our prayers in larger measures than our asking. Delayed demonstartions of God's love and power are inevitable, because His knowledge is complete. The cure of Lazarus' sickness would have been more routine for Jesus: His dramatic recall of him from the tomb was climatic in the purpose of God.

The Two Natures

At the tomb of Lazarus stood the human Friend of the man within. In personal grief, soft tears rolled down His cheeks. "Jesus wept," the shortest verse in the Bible, and one of the most significant. Spurgeon used to say that he could almost forgive the men who had chopped the Bible up into texts, because they had made stand out the two revealing words, "Jesus Wept."

Let us never forget the complete humanity of Jesus. He shared all the sensations of the common man. He knew grief and He knew joy. He was the complete participant in human nature; He understands us perfectly.

It was the utterly human Jesus who wept with the family and friends of Lazarus. But it was the Divine Jesus, one with the Father, who stood before the tomb, and in loud tones, as befitted the Lord of life, commanded the dead man to come forth.

The Wonder Wrought

In response, to the amazement of the assembled company, the eerie figure of Lazarus, wrapped in the cerements of the grave, stumbled forth. The Divine Lord of Life had performed His greatest miracle. We are left to imagine the joy and bewilderment of the sisters, as they welcomed their restored brother. Out of the wrappings of the grave, at the behest of Incarnate Life, had returned the one whom they had thought lost to them forever.

Browning speculates upon the whereabouts of the spirit whose outward frame had lain for three days in its cave sepulchre. The poet pictures Lazarus, the resurrected, as moving silently among men, a figure who had seen things not to be uttered.

The Plotters Emerge

Resurrection for Lazarus spelled doom for Jesus. The two events are closely related. The Sanhedrin and the Pharisees perceived clearly that this crowning miracle would arouse the entire Nation, and set myraids to following the Miracle-worker. They saw no way out but quickly to eliminate Jesus. The subject was taken up in a formal session of the Sanhedrin; and definite plots were formulated for destroying Jesus.

Life for Lazarus meant death for Jesus. Yet he continued on His course, even attending a banquet given by the reunited family of Martha, Mary and Lazarus. He went serenly on His wonted way, although the sound of nails being driven into a cross was ever in His ears. His demonstration of death's subordination to the power of eternal life, is today the comfort of myraids of bereaved. Like Lazarus, Jesus had died and lives again, the Lord of life and death.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

Orthodoxy can be learned from others; living faith must be a matter of personal experience.

—Buchsel.

With patient mind thy course of duty run; God nothing does nor suffers to be done, but thou wouldst do thyself, if thou couldst see the end of all He does as well as He.

—Anon.

Cowards are cruel, but the brave
Love mercy, and delight to save.

—Gay.

Nothing in human life is more to be lamented, than that a wise man should have so little influence.

—Herodotus.

I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.

—John 11:25.

Lord, give us more faith,
For, in our mortal sight,
Life and our little death
Shut out the hills of light.

—Turner.

He that does good to any man, does also good to himself; not only in the consequence, but in the very act of doing it; for the conscience of well-doing is an ample reward.

—Seneca.

The Sunday School Lesson for February 2 is, "Jesus The Giver of Life"—John 4:46-51; 5:2-9; 11:41-44.

Civil Service Exams.

Applications will be accepted until February 11 by the U. S. Civil Service commission for probational appointment as operating engineer, and until March 11 for veterinarian, W. C. Galloway, secretary for the commission at the Corsicana post office, revealed Tuesday.

Veterinarian positions salary range from $2,644 to $4,149 per year, while the operating engineer salary is from $2,469 to $2,985.

Requisites for applicants can be secured at the local secretary's office.

JESTER FINANCING PLANS UNDER FIRE OF HOUSE GROUP

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester's suggested "painless" method of financing suggested extension of state services was labelled "shortsighted" and "extremely doubtful economics" by one group of house members today.

The five young war veteran members who formally introduced their $38,000,000 natural resources tax to raise school teachers pay and finance farm-to-market roads, joined in a statement commenting on the governor's first message to the legislature.

Jester said the current general revenue surplus, and anticipated revenues, would suffice The tax advocates replied:

"We believe it would be extremely doubtful economics to let all the state's savings slip through our fingers in these times of plenty.

"Rather, we feel that they should be held intact for some future depression period when they may be desperately needed to alleviate human suffering."

Signers of the statement were Reps. Jim Wright of Weatherford, Davis Clifton of McKinney, Sid Gregory, Jr., of Gatesville, and Ed Hughes, Jr., of Newton, and James Spencer of Athens.

CHINA

They asserted the Communists were too weak to take either Peiping or Tientsin, although they could delay or imperil the American withdrawal by damaging the railway—which is just what they did However, such disruptions ordinarily can be quickly repaired.

First Serious Attack.

It was the first serious Communist attack on the railway, which once was guarded by U. S. Marines, and was different from the sniping and ambushes in which Marines were caught several times.

While both government and Communist leaders speculated over the effects of the departure of the Americans, informed sources in Nanking predicted that all Communist liaison offices in government territory would be closed with the possible exception of Nanking's.

They pointed out that government military commanders long had complained of the presence of top-notch Communists in Nanking, Shanghai and Chungking, where they were able to observe and report to Yenan.

U. S. Guarantees Return.

Under terms of last year's agreement establishing mediation machinery, Secretary of State Marshall, then special U. S. envoy, pledged that the United States would return Communists from executive headquarters at Peiping, as well as liaison officers, to Communist territory.

Most of the high-ranking Communsits probably will return to Yenan, the Communist capital. The transportation will be a big job for the thin U. S. air forces remaining in China.

Withdrawal of the U. S. Marines, which American sources in Peiping said would follow the departure of the 1,000 army and civilian personnel from Peiping quarters, will leave few American military forces in China.

Naval School to Remain.

There still will remain the navy's training school in Tsingtao and the military advisory group in China, both small. Either could pull out easily on orders from Washington.

There still was no official comment, either from the government or the Communists on the announcement of the end of U. S. mediation efforts made yesterday.

The nearest thing to it was a statement handed out by the ministry of information in Nanking with Chiang Kai-Shek's approval.

It said that the government had no course but to continue its "political democratization" with the assistance of minority parties because the Communists were refusing to reopen negotiations.

TRIBUTE TO F.D.R. ON BIRTHDAY IS LED BY TEXAS' RAYBURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—House Democrats, led by Leader Rayburn of Texas, paid tribute today to Franklin D. Roosevelt as a great humanitarian, statesman, war leader and a friend of the common man.

Speaking on the 65th anniversary of the late president's birth, Rayburn ranked him with Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Cleveland McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, and Wilson. He said the wartime president led the country through its "most dangerous and most glorious period" in history.

All but a few Republicans present on the floor rose to their feet as Rayburn concluded.

CONGRESS AND THE REICH

Among those who wonder what may be the result of the influx of Republicans into the ranks of the Congress are the members of the Americai Military Government in Germany, say David M. Nichol, writing from Berlin.

AMG officials are chiefly concerned over the amount of money necessary for feeding the 600,000 displaced persons in the American zone. Nichol says that the War Department budget for this year included an item of $149,000,000, most of which was used for food, and that $100,000,000 more was asked for in addition. This heavy burden on the American taxpayer may be lifted in three years, if the plans outlined for achieving self-sufficency for the Germans in the combined American and British zones can be carried out.

In their zeal for economy in government, the new members of Congress should not go so far to impede these plans, which in the long run may prove constructively important to the welfare of all of Europe. The American taxpayer, heavy as his burdens are, is still able to carry on for a few more years for the sake of getting Europeans to the point where they can take care of themselves. A hopeful start has already been made in several countries.

REPORT FROM THE WORLD

From 13 nations they came to Cleveland, by plane, by train, bus and auto to the history-making week-end session sponsored by the Cleveland Council on World Affairs and Time Magazine, called Report From the World. Speakers, including recently-resigned Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, gave their personal appraisal of the state of the world. Except for meetings like the peace treaty gathering in Paris and New York, never has there been such a conclave of the living great. Cleveland's huge Public Auditorium was hardly big enough to seat the crowds who clamored for admittance. Nationality groups in this very cosmopolitan city vied to entertain visiting leaders of their country. There was no international questiton too delicate to be discussed, too astute for consideration.

Through newspapers, magazines and radio the world listened in on the Cleveland doings. For months to come pronouncements from these meetings will be quoted and requoted. More than that, the men and women attending had another opportunity to become personally acquainted, a consequence of great importance.

SUPREME ROAD-BUILDERS

Good highways date back to the ancient Romans, who learned early how to handle stone and mortar, thereby spreading civilization more effectively than would otherwise have been possible. But we modern Americans easily beat them at their own specialty, and are so rapidly filling our western world with great highways that it makes foreign observers dizzy. Ohio, for instance, right now is launching a "state-wide network of express highways" that would have made Julius Caesar dizzy. This one comparatively small part of the U.S.A. will spend $742,000,000 just to relieve congestion in the cities of that state, and the same sort of procedure is rapidly spreading over the whole country.

The big idea at present is to "get rid of the bottlenecks," and this chore is being accomplished with a speed incredible to foreigners and almost incredible to ourselves.

Why do we do it? Most people, if they stop to think about it, will probably say we do it for convenience. But a desire for easy travel may have even more to do with it. As one observer expresses it, "people want to get where they ain't."

TURKEY CARVER'S PLEA

I am very fond of turkey, but to carve one bothers me.
Instead of just one wishbone, I've a crying need for three.
With a trio at the table—seven and six and half-past two—
Each one pleading for the wishbone, what's the carver going to do?

For the ones who fancy white meat, there is plenty on the bird.
But with three demanding drumsticks, how am I to please the third?
And I never carve a turkey but a sigh or two it brings,
Since for all who ask to have one, there are not sufficient wings.

Oh, you clever turkey breeders, with your ever growing flock,
Who with skill and care and feeding have produced a better stock,
Heed this pleading of a grandpa who has need for wishbones three:
Grow a triple-wishboned turkey, so that tears he'll never see.

FUTURE TEACHERS

There is hope in sight for those who are alarmed about the present shortage of well trained teachers. In many high schools and colleges an organization has been sponsored which is known as the Future Teachers of America.

These promising youngsters are taken on tours of inspection to schools of all ranks, and are given practice assignments as substitute teachers as well as having regular teaching assignments a certain number of times a month. They are under the guidance of experienced teachers and are chosen not only for good grades, but also for the qualities of temperament and character which go to make good guides for the young.

In these enthusiastic young people may be a splendid solution for teacher shortage. Some people are born to teach, others need to be discovered and encouraged, but all teachers need an early start and careful training.

BOOKS BY MACHINE

The good old days of bookstore browsing may soon be over. There may be no more thumbing longingly through this volume and that reading in the first few pages, the middle chapter, the end, and then laying the book back on the shelf under the eyes of a patient and tolerant book seller. No more book sellers. No more book shelves. But plenty of books.

A vending machine for books has been invented. The Pocket Book people who sell those amazing twenty-five cent book bargains, have installed one of these machines at a New York City subway entrance. It holds 96 books mounted on a revolving drum to permit the customer a quick look. A quarter in the slot releases the chosen volume.

A helpless public has learned to operate slot machines for cigarettes, stamps, candy bars and gum. They'll probably come to this book machine, too. But half the fun of buying a book will be gone when it can't be selected from a lot of other books which have been perused a bit and left in the book stall. Many readers will hope the machines do not spread beyond New York—and New York folks are different, anyway.

On the other hand, the highbrow who scorns mystery novels might draw a Dorothy Sayer in a hurry and be fascinated. And a mystery fan going on a long journey might find himself with a Waverly Novel and be entranced.

The more we look at Washington lately, the more we wonder what those fellows there think they're doing. Apparently so do they.

'Most any kind of work that a fellow likes is healthy work.

ENNIS TAKES EASY VICTORY FROM HIGH SCHOOL VARSITY 5

B'S SALVAGE SECOND TILT OF DOUBLE BILL BY 35 TO 22 SCORE

A fast breaking Ennis cage five ran wild against a befuddled Corsicana Tiger team Tuesday night at Ennis to sail to an easy 44-21 win to remain in a tie for third place in District 10-AA while Corsicana marks time in the cellar.

Morgan, brilliant Ennis contender for all-district honors, hit the high road to lead his mates to the convincing win, overpowering the locals personally with a grand total of 24 points. Reed of Corsicana topped the Tigers with seven points.

The Tiger B team salvaged a remnant of glory with a 35-22 win over the Ennis B team behind the mesh burning of Corky Harkins with 11 and John McNeil with 10 points. Goodwin was high for the Ennis entry with six points.

Corsicana played without the aid of starting guard Noble Davis, who was injured slightly in the Temple game. Kelly Burkhart filled the spot capably for the locals.

JOINT U. S.-MEXICO BOARD MAY COMBAT DISEASE OUTBREAK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—U. S. agriculture authorities were reported today considering proposals to establish a joint U. S.-Mexican foot and mouth disease board to combat Mexico's outbreak of the dread infection.

This was learned from well-informed government officials as the department of agriculture rushed its "summary of developments" on the Mexican epidemic to:

1. Governors of cattle-producing states.
2. Congressmen interested in the outbreak.
3. The Mexican government, and,
4. Private organizations affected by the potential threat that the disease might cross the U. S. border.

Informants in a position to know said the subcommittee of the joint U. S.-Mexican agricultural commission has submitted to the two governments recommendations that a two-nation board be set up to study the Mexican outbreak.

Thesa informants describe the subcommittee proposals this way:

Under the recommendations, the board would be empowered with "full authority for the planning, direction and execution of programs for the eradication of the disease" in Mexico.

The subcommission, which met in Mexico City, suggested that representatives of the board include veterinarians, livestock producers and businessmen.

The bi-nation group proposed "methodical disposal of all susceptible animals in newly infected and directly exposed herds by immediate destruction."

This means, informants said, a widesprad slaughtering program under supervision of U. S. and Mexican sanitation authorities would be begun whenever authorities agreed that it was necessary.

In addition, government officials said, the subcommission urged in a separate resolution "immediate steps be taken to establish a joint U. S.-Mexican research organization" to study animals in the Mexican outbreak areas.

Government officials emphasized that the recommendations must be acted upon by the full joint commission, then approved by secretaries of agriculture of the two nations.

DISTRICT JUDGE MAYS DEVOTEE OF SPORTS, OUT-OF-DOORS WHEN NOT PRESIDING OVER TRIALS

By GROVER HEIMAN
Sun Sports Staff

Meet Gus Mays, a man of many talents, but primarily a sportsman.

Known to the citizens of Navarro county as District Judge A. P. Mays, "Gus," as he is familiarly called, presents a stern, yet understanding visage to those who have business with the court.

Yet, when Gus is not helping a juvenile delinquent back on the right path, straightening out a domestic difficulty, or dealing swift justice to the criminal, he is likely to be found participating in some outdoor activity on his 1,000 acre ranch two miles west of Angus on Richland Creek.

Gus likes sports. He's been participating since he was old enough to toddle. In a way, sports has always had a great influence on the well known jurist. Six months ago he sold his old family mansion and moved to the ranch, close to the Nature he loves.

Walking into the judge's chambers in the courthouse one is prone to be slightly ill at east. Gray has forced its way around the judge's temples and his hair isn't as thick as in the years past. His skin is tanned russet, highlighting the gray-blue eyes. A man who gives the impression of power, intelligence, and kindliness.

Coon Hunter

If you ask Gus when he went coon hunting last, the gray eyes sparkle and a wide grin will soften the sometimes severe features. Gus Mays is in his element and there is doubt about the point. Pushing aside a thick law book with capable and sure fingers, he lights a cigaret and hoists his feet to a higher position. A true sportsman, he likes to talk his sport much as young flyers orate on flying.

"Well, sir, I've got three coon dogs — rather 10, now that I have seven puppies. The boys around the ranch have four more so we have a good pack. They are registered English coon hounds."

Owns Virginia Anderson

Another tack to try on Gus is to ask about Virginia Anderson, his brilliant bird dog. Coming five year old, she took the Great Northern third place honors in prairie chickens in Canada and first place in the Texas Open Championship All-Age at Malakoff. Handled by Jett Crawford of Malakoff, she is now campaigning after a brilliant first year. Virginia Anderson has a warm spot in the judge's heart.

Gus is a recognized authority on coon hunting. Here is the way he describes the sport:

"We hunt at night in the bottom lands. The dogs are "cast off"—released—and when trail is struck, the dog "opens"—barks—and the other dogs go to the strike dog and the race begins. The old coon does everything he can to evade the dogs and is a master in the water, simetimes swimming lakes and creeks to avoid the dogs.

Coon's Strategy

In most cases the coon will tap tree, that is run up the tree about ten feet and then jump as far as he can. The unexperienced dog will tree then, but the experienced dog will begin circling the tree in ever widening circles until he picks up the trail again. If he doesn't find the trail he comes back to the tree and does what we call "tree," the judge explains.

"Now when the coon trees it is difficult at times to find him, but we have powerful flashlights. The wily coon will look straight up or cover his eyes with his paws, but once disturbed will look down. We shake bushes or vines, but the experienced hunter will squall like a fighting coon and the treed coon will look down."

Don't Kill Coons

Gus will set you clear on one point—he doesn't hunt coons for the hides. Those who hunt for hides shoot the animal out of the tree, but Gus and his friends do it different and more sporting. Tying the dogs, one of the men climbs the tree and shakes the coon out. After the coon has had three minutes of freedom, they untie the dogs and another chase is held for thirty minutes or an hour.

"Very often the coon will not tree the second time, but will be "bayed," which is a term we use that means the coon turns and fights. Coons often take to the water when "bayed." The coon in water can lick any pack of dogs. Few experienced coon hounds will take hold in the water. The smart dog swims around the coon and gradually forces him back to shore."

Describes Large Coon

In all his years of hunting, Gus says the largest coon he ever ran across was a 11-pounder in Navarro county, but that some taken in other states have weighed 50 pounds. The average number of coons raised during the hunts may vary, but he recalls as many as nine to fifteen.

"I like coon hunting," Gus will tell you, "but I think I like being out in the open just as much. There is nothing more intriguing as the bottom lands at night. You have the moon and the stars, a canopy of trees, myriad of sounds, all singing sermons, the sound of ducks on a lagoon, the occasional squall of a wolf and the cry of the hounds. When a dog trees there is no mistaking the sound. It sends a thrill of anticipation over you while the steady squalling on the trail is comforting." His eyes twinkle when he says, "You've never lived until you've tasted hot coffee brewed over a campfire at two o'clock in the morning."

A note of seriousness will come into any discussion of the bottom lands, whether it be the relatively small Richland creek bottom or the massive wilderness at the junction of Richland, Chambers and Tehuacana creeks with the Trinity river.

May Get Lost

"There is always the danger of getting lost, but a man with knowledge of the stars, of the growth of moss and the way driftwood is arranged all tell a story to the experienced hunter."

But dogs are the favorite topic of discussion that the Judge likes to indulge in and he has made quite a name for himself in the state and nation.

He is vice president of the Amateur Field Trial Clubs of America which number 155 at the present time. He is making plans to attend the National meet at Maytag plantation at Union Springs, Alabama, on Feb. 4. He will take Virginia Anderson, the Texas champion to the trials. Currently he is competing at the National Free For All at Shugualak, Mississippi, on the Nunn plantation.

President Texas Open

Gus has been interested in field trials since 1916 when he owned Lady Louise Proctor, former state champion. He has been president of the Texas Open Champion Field Trial association for 11 of the 15 years of existence of the organization. The members just won't let energentic Gus Mays retire.

He is a director of Bobwhite Incorporated, an organization of sportsmen dedicated to the propaganda and protection of quail. The corporation operates a quail farm where birds are raised and released and also serves as an experiment station.

Nearly six feet, rangy Gus Mays walks with a determined and springy step. His World War background shows prominently in an erect carriage reminiscent of the 90th infantry days, the same division two other Corsicana friends served—Beauford H. Jester and Pat Brown.

Mays rose to the rank of captain in the war, participating in the St. Mihiel and Argonne battles. After that he saw service in the occupation forces.

Well Known Athlete

Prior to that time Gus not only showed an interest in field trials, but in other sports. Here is his record: graduated from Corsicana High in 1912 having earned two football letters and a star as captain and two baseball letters. At the University of Texas where he earned a baseball and football letter, he was a starting shortstop and right end. Before going to the university, Mays tried his hand at professional baseball in Corsicana, but he can't remember the name of the team or the league.

"That's a long time ago," he grins.

Another sport interest that occupies Mays' time is saddle horses. On his ranch he has three registered Kentucky saddle horses. On the ranch are 100 registered head of cattle in addition to another herd.

World War I Vet

In between his hunting and fishing activities, Gus has managed to find time to climb to great heights since his graduation from the University of Texas law school in 1917. Straight from the law school he went to the first officers training school at Leon Springs, Texas.

A 32nd degree Mason, Mays has also been past president of the Navarro County Bar association, past president of the Corsicana Country club, appeal agent for Selective Service Board No. 1, has held the position of county judge from 1920-24, was the first post commander of Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion, practiced law from 1934 to 1943, when he was appointed district judge and re-elected without opposition. Its rumored the judge will retire, but he won't talk much on the subject.

Likes To Fish

Fishing is another sport the Judge likes, taking his sport in casting for bass locally and in large doses of salt water angling at Rockport and Port Aransas.

Sports have been a consuming interest to the judge, but the ranchhouse needed an entire remodeling. That was only a part of the troubles in moving. The roads were bad, but Gus solved that problem with a Model A Ford. In the worst weather he comes chugging up to the courthouse with a wide grin on his mouth. Now the Mays are comfortably settled in the ranch home and Gus is doing what he loves to do—

PORTAL PAY

Earlier the U. S. government, intervening in the case, urged that portal pay time spent by labor be balanced against periods of time that employes devote to personal pursuits during working hours.

The government's position was outlined a short time after attorneys for the CIO filed briefs declaring the outpouring of more than $4,000,000,000 in portal pay suits resulted from a colossal gamble to evade the wage-hour act.

John F. Sonnett, assistant attorney-general, told Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, who has been directed by the supreme court to assess damages against the Mt. Clemens Pottery Co.:

"It would seem that the court should give due consideration to periods of time that employes are permitted to devote to personal pursuits during normal working hours.

"Plainly, an employer it not entitled to deduct trifling personal-pursuit periods during working hours in computing the work week under the (Fair Labor Standards) act, and, by the same token, the employe should not be entitled to the addition of trifling periods of preliminary activity.

"As a matter of business reality, such periods should be treated as offsetting each other without the need for keeping records x x x."

Judge Picard adjourned the heraing until 2 p. m., when the National Association of Manufacturers is scheduled to present industry's arguments.

Union attorneys contended in a brief filed with Federal Judge Frank A. Picard that employer liability for such pay had been spelled out time and again since 1939.

"Instead of complying with the act, in accordance with those administrative rulings and judicial decisions," they said, "American employers in wholesale fashion gambled on evading the act, hoping to escape the consequences."

Hearing Under Way.

Most of the portal pay suits have been filed by CIO member unions.

Attorneys for labor, industry and the government were to argue before Judge Picard in a hearing expected to wind up today.

A supreme court decision upholding Judge Picard's findings in a case involving the Mt. Clemens (Mich.) pottery company opened the flood gates for the similar litigation which followed on a vast scale. The pottery firm itself has only 1,200 employes.

Judge Picard held that the workers are entitled to back pay for non-productive time necessarily spent on company premises. The supreme court, agreeing, directed him to determine how much the pottery employes should receive.

CIO Brief Filed.

The CIO brief was filed in connection with Judge Picard's hearing today of views from labor, industry and the government on what the damages ought to be.

"There have been hystrical outcries that unless this case is decided adversely to the workers the very pillars of the republic will fall," the brief said.

"Not only have predictions been freely made that industry would be ruined but even before a single penny has been paid out in a single case filed subsequent to the Mt. Clemens decision there has been a constant stream of predictions that the litigation will result in a vast depletion of tax revenue."

U. S. View Disputed.

The CIO took direct issue with a justice department brief already before Judge Picard which argued in favor of applying the "de minimus doctrine" to the time involved. "De minimus" is the doctrine that the law does no concern itself with trifles.

The union brief commented:

"In every decision which has come to our office involving a variety of activities such as travel time, make-ready time, reporting time, change-clothes time, etc., the courts have invariably considered all of these activities as a daily or weekly aggregate.

"The brief submitted to the court by the Department of Justice presents a novel formula whereby the claims of the workers may be split into minute fractions and each portion eliminated as de minimus."

Justice Department Involved.

The justice department brief, filed a week ago, contended:

"Plainly an employer is not entitled to deduct trifling personnel pursuit periods in computing the work weed, and by the same token the employe should not be entitled to the addition of trifling periods of preliminary activity."

The department stepped into the case after witnesses at a senate hearing on bills to deal with the portal pay issue testified the claims could cost the government billions in tax rebates and additional payments on cost-plus-fee war contracts.

Judge Picard said his decision in the case, one of the most important in the recent history of the law, will not be forthcoming immediately.

"I can't write an opinion until I've heard all sides," he commented, adding that the decision will be ready "as soon as possible."

LEGISLATURE

The amended bill required the livestock commission to make monthly reports to the state auditor of expenditures from this emergency fund. A technical change in the bill insured that it shall not violate any federal laws, national treaties with other countries or agreements between Texas and bordering states

Assistance Hike Passes.

The senate passed legislation making an appropriation to bring up to the $35,000,000 constitutional maximum the old age assistance, children's assistance and blind assistance funds, for the balance of the fiscal year.

Emergency pay raises for state employes bogged down on the senate floor after eight senators blocked suspension of rules to take up consideration of raises for employes of educational institutions.

The block followed a squabble over raising salaries of employes making more than $5,000. The senate earlier had voted no raise to $5,000-a-year employes of the judiciary but refused to apply the rule to teachers.

Trades Bill Approved

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 30—(AP)—The so-called "Fair Trades Bill" hurdled its first barrier last ngiht when it received a 6-0 favorable vote of the senate committee on commerce and manufacturing recommending it for senate passage.

The one-sided vote followed a spirited public hearing in which name-calling, charges and countercharges were fired for three hours by large merchants, housewives, and legislators who filled the senate chamber.

Would Set Minimums

The bill would make it unlawful for retailers to sell for prices below minimum prices fixed by the seller.

Charles H. Flato of Kingsville, representing the Texas Hardware and Implement Association, declared that association to have voted unanimously in favor of the bill at a Houston convention.

Rufus G. Starnes of Abilene, Texas Retail Grocer Association, told the committee that Fair Trades legislation has been passed in 45 states and not one has ever been repealed.

"Independent merchants do not seek an advantage—just an even break," declared Robert G. Dillard, executive secretary of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association. "We're asking you for the privilege of regulating our own business."

Kerens Senator Opposed

Opposition to the bill was sparked by Sen. James Taylor of Kerens who dubbed the bill as the "Little OPA Bill for Texas" which would allow manufacturers to set minimum retail prices instead of the government setting maximum prices.

"I don't represent anybody but the people of my district who are going to pay these prices," he declared.

His remarks were the first to receive a round of applause.

Applause also went to Mrs. Maude Knolle of Houston who said she represented only one housewife. She told the committee the proposed law wasn't needed since prices "are adjusting themselves" after the removal of OPA.

"And while I'm talking," she declared, "I think we've got too many laws anyway. I was really hoping that this time you might repeal a few."

Lower Prices Cited

Carl Bruner of Fort Worth, representing Leonard's and a number of other large retail stores, presented a list of 200 items which he said he had listed at everyday prices at Leonard's at an average of 16.1 percent lower prices than minimum prices in New York under that state's Fair Trades act.

"We would prefer not to be regulated by manufacturers," he said.

Rep. A. N. Green of Cameron told the committee the bill would place "a small group of manufacturers in a special fortress of privilege."

Weingarten Is Speaker

Joe Weingarten of Houston, large grocery store operator, told the committee that "all our supermarkets want to do is to pass on our purchasing power and our economies to the customer."

Clint Small of Austin warned the committee that the Supreme Court of Texas has already held that the practice of sellers fixing minimum prices is a violation of anti-trust laws of the state.

Earlier yesterday the senate finance committee recommended the emrgency state pay raise bill for senate passage after cutting proposed pay boosts from 20 percent to 15 percent for portions of state salaries up to $3,600, cutting proposed 15 percent raises to 5 percent on salary portions between $3,600 and $5,000, and recommended no increase on portions above $5,000.

Judiciary Raises Approved

Salaries which would be affected include those of the judiciary, educational institutions, eleemosynary institutions and departments of the state for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Also getting the finance committee's recommendations, for senate passage were bills calling for emergency appropriations of $146,806 for adjutant general's department; $140,423 for the National Guard Armory Board; $3,140,000 for the blind assistance fund, children's assistance fund, and the old age assitance fund, and $75,000 from the state highway fund for the state highway patrol.

Favorable recommendation was also given Sen. H. L. Winfield's bill asking a $25,000 appropriation for the Pecos River compact commission.

Public Hearing Set

Sen. Fred Harris bill proposing a $1,500,000 cancer, pellagra and psychopathic hospital for Dallas was set for public hearing at 2 p. m. Feb. 24.

Bills poured into the house hipper yesterday included the following:

Rep. Harley Sadler's redistricting bill, giving representation as follows to Texas' heavily populated areas; Harris and Dallas, 7; Bexar, 6; Tarrant, 5; Jefferson and El Paso, 3; Travis and Bastrop (together) 3; McLellan and Coryell (together) 3; Hidalgo, Nueces, Cameron, Galveston 2.

Rep. John J. Sell's bill making mass picketing unlawful.

Rep. Cecil Storey's bill prohibiting strikes against the state.

Rep. Bell's bill to carry into effect the veterans land amendment approved by the Texas electorate at the last general election.

GEORGIA

Talmadge triumphantly announced that money had been found to pay 1,500 employes of the state highway department and 500 workers in the state revenue department, despite refusal of the state treasurer to disburse funds to agencies with dual administration.

The treasurer, George B. Hamilton, declined comment except to observe that while Talmadge department heads were free to use funds now in their possession they could not draw future warrants on the treasury until the courts rule.

ATLANTA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Georgia's white primary bill, a bid for the total exclusion of negro voters from Democratic primaries which constitute the decisive balloting in this state, moved over to the state senate today after receiving a thumping two-to-one approval in the house.

Senate action on the measure is not expected until next week, after a committee appointed to study similar measures in other states has reported on Monday.

Taking its vote late in the afternoon after almost seven hours of continuous debate, the house approved the bill yesterday by a vote of 133 to 62.

The bill will divest the state of any control over party primaries, leaving them to the parties themselves as "private organizations" which proponents say legally can set their own membership qualifications. It is a studied effort to by-pass a U. S. supreme court devicion that negroes can not be barred from primaries where nomination is tantamount to election.

Both claimants to the state's disputed governorship, Herman Talmadge and Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson, have declared themselves in favor of a white primary. It was Talmadge's supporters, however, who pushed the bill through and Thompson's adherents, mostly, who first sought delay in consideration and then opposed this particular measure.

N. SUTTLE ROBERTS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF PLANNING BOARD

PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM FOR CITY DISCUSSED AT MONDAY SESSION

BY BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff.

A crowd of members that jammed the city hall's corporation courtroom Monday night elected N. Suttle Roberts, president of the State National Bank, as president of the Corsicana Planning Board, and heard concrete discussion of city planning by one of the nation's foremost engineers.

Roberts, elevated from the third vice-presidency, succeeds Lowry Martin as the organization swings into its second year of existence. He is a representative of the Civitan club on the board.

J. M. Dyer, representative of the Chamber of Commerce, was named to succeed Roberts as third vice-president, and Louis Wolens, of the Wolens Federation, was elected treasurer, succeeding his brother, the late Joe Wolens.

The mmbers re-elected all other officers, including Mrs. A. G. Elliott, first vice-president, J. C. Roe, second vice-president; John F. Adams, recording secretary; W. H. Smith, correspnoding secretary; Roy Love, member at large, and Rev. L. F. Hardee, Negro member at large.

O. H. Koch, member of the firm of Koch and Fowler, municipal planning engineers, Dallas, discussed the future value of a concrete city outline, declaring that "Corsicana—or any other city—is going to lose as much every year from now on as a master plan would cost in indirect expenditures."

Koch was accompanied here by J. D. Sandker, also a member of the firm.

GOVERNOR JESTER

The engineer, long prominent in guiding the destinies of Texas municipalities, told members of the board "there is nothing mysterious about city planning. It is very elemental in all of its phases."

Spend Money Wisely.

"City planning is not done as an excuse to vote big bond issues," he said. "When I think of it, I don't think of spending money, just for the sake of spending money. I think of it as a means of spending money wisely, not just frittering it away.

"You're going to spend it anyway. Planning won't make you spend any more."

The engineer told the group that "you have been planning all of your lives—your homes, your factories, your furniture, your picnics—everything. Why isn't it worthwhile to give time in planning a city, which is so much more important to your future welfare?"

The revamping of a city does not depend upon how many resources the city has, he said, but as to what use the resources that are available are put.

FAR-REACHING PLANS OUTLINED IN FIRST TALK TO LEGISLATURE

NO INCREASE IN TAXES PROPOSED BY GOVERNOR TO FINANCE PROGRAM

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 28—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today recommended to the legislature increased appropriations of $88,140,789 in the next two years for expanded state services in many fields, to be financed without new taxes from the present general revenue fund surplus and from anticipated increases in all state revenues.

Jester started reading his 12,000 word address at 11:02 a. m., and finished at 12:52. He was applauded at its beginning and end, and once about two-thirds of the way through, when he said the right to strike against a government can not be recognized.

The gallery of the house was filled and most of the spectators stayed throughout Jester's deliberate reading of his address.

Jester, holding firm to his campaign pledge not to ask for new taxes, said he estimated that there would be $100,897,807 in new money available for expenditures by the 50th Legislature.

Present Revenue Enough

The new governor, in his first message to the legislature which already has before it one natural resources tax bill, told the lawmakers that revenues now available will be "more than adequate to provide the state with a well-rounded program without the necessity of placing any new tax burdens on the already over-burdened taxpayer."

He told the legislators that it would be impossible for them to grant all the requests for public funds. These requests are larger and more numerous than ever before in history, he said.

Jester made emergency recommendations for legislation appropriating approximately $6,000,000 to meet emergency needs for public welfare, the eleemosynary institutions, the National Guard, increased pay for rura lteachers and state employees, professional education for negroes, and the livestock sanitary commission to fight the possible spread of hoof and mouth disease.

On Friendly Note

Jester opened his address on a friendly note, with a bid for comradeship and the lawmakers in "bearing the joint burden of service to the state." He said cooperation was the only route to retention of human liberties, and that the legislative and administrative branches of the government must be more responsive to the more than six million citizens of the state.

Bringinig his list of 25 specific and general recommendations, including those of emergency nature for immediate consideration, Jester urged the members of the legislature to reciprocate by making suggestions to him.

Veterans Paid Tribute

He paid tribute to the numerous ex-service men in both house and senate, assembled in joint session to hear his address. He said there were usually several sound and workable solutions to every military problem which could be solved by "teamwork and determined action."

"That is pretty much my attitude toward the state government and its problems," Jester said.

He called the legislature's particular attention to hte fact that the "increased cost of living has imposed severe hardships on the indignent old people, dependent children and the needy blind," asking for immediate cash to bring welfare payments up to the constitutional maximum.

Many Programs Urged

Jester urged the legislautre to appropriate funds for operation of the veterans affairs commission, to carefully consider an enabling act for the veterans land amendment and to study carefully the needs for pardon and parole law revision. He urged redistricting of the state for legislative representation and judicial redistricting; lump sum appropriations for state supported colleges and universities; increase in public safety and public health appropriations; legislation to promote building of more farm-to-market roads.

Here in essence were Jester's recommendations:

1. Appropriation of $150,000 immediately to the livestock sanitary commission to combat the serious threat of foot and mouth disease on the border.

2. Immediate appropriations up to the constitutional maximum of $35,000,000 for public welfare. Jester estimated this would require $3,663,331 for the remainder of the fiscal year and an additional $7,680,000 each year of the next two years.

3. Appropriation of no more than $260,000 a year for operation of the proposed veterans' affairs commission to promote the welfare of veterans.

On-Job Training Fund.

4. Appropriation of $55,000 immediately to the adjutant general's department to start a survey of Texas employers who want to qualify for on-the-job training for veterans. This sum would be reimbursed by the federal government.

5. "Early and careful" consideration of an enabling act to put into operation the veterans' land amendment.

6. Immediate appropriation of $1,100,000 to raise salaries of state employes for the balance of the fiscal year, with additional appropriation of $2,200,000 annually from the general revenue fund for the next two years for the same purpose.

Ten Million for Colleges.

7. Appropriation of $10,000,000 per year in lump sums for state-supported institutions of higher learning to provide more funds for salaries and operating expenses.

8. Emergency appropriation of $750,000 from the general revenue fund to initiate the proposed expansion of professional education for the negro youth, a state negro university "worthy of the name of Texas." Appropriation of an additional $2,000,000 in the next biennium for the same purpose. Jester commended the report of Gov. Coke Stevenson's bi-racial commission to the legislature for "earnest consideration" in expanding negro higher educational facilities.

9. Increase of 200 men in the state police force, careful study looking toward reform of the code of criminal procedure, revision of pardon and parole laws after careful study and consultation with experts. "Reform is needed, but it should not be hasty or ill-considered reform."

Highway Patrol Force.

10. Immediate appropriation of $75,000 to keep the state highway patrol up to its authorized minimum strength and an additional $1,300,000 per year during the next biennium to the state department of public safety.

11. Emergency legislation to enable the board of control to complete its plans for acquisition of army camps to be used as tuberculosis hospitals. Emergency appropriaton of $200,000 to the board of repars and remodelling of eleemosynary institutaions and adaptation of army camp facilities.

12. Increased appropriation of $7,719,686 for eleemosynary institutions for improvements and modernization during the next two fiscal years.

13. Enactment of a law to enable local subdivisions of government to pool their funds with state highway department funds for construction of farm-to-market roads. Passage of another law under which the entire surplus from the county and road district highway fund be dedicated to building and maintaining farm-to-market roads.

Jester estimated this surplus would be $5,500,000 on Sept. 1.

Redistricting Urged.

14. Redistricting "to provide equality of representation in the legislature."

15. Judicial redistricting to equalize the burdens between district courts that have too much to do, and those that have too little.

16. Increased appropriation of $100,000 a year for the next two years for the extension service of Texas A. and M. College.

17. Appropriation of $200,000 to be spent during the next two years by the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. for agricultural and related industrial research.

Book Fund ncrease.

18. Additional appropriation of $200,000 a year to the state library and historical commission to make books available to 3,000,000 Texans who do not now have library facilities.

19. Immediate action in supplementing salaries of rural teachers $75 a month for the balance of the year. "For the next biennium, I recommend that an additional $10,000,000 of the surplus money available in the general revenue fund be appropriated for payment of salaries to school teachers . . . our efforts in the immediate future should be toward raising the salary levels of the poorest paid teachers."

20. Appropriation of $3,000,000 a year for the state health department, or about $2,270,000 more than is now being spent each year.

21. Appropriation of $2,000,000 to be spent during the next two years for construction of a state office and courts building or buildings.

22. Passage of a law to outlaw strikes against the state or any of its political subdisivions.

23. Replacement of the present bureau of labor statistics with a department of labor and industry to be operated under direction of a commission which would have equal representation as between employers and labor, and a larger representation for the public. This new commission, with enlarged powers, could replace the now dorment state industrial commission.

24. Consideration of a labor conciliation act similar to those of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

25. Emeregency appropriation of $146,806, for the adjutant general's department and $140,423 for the National Guard armory board to expedite reorganization of the National Guard.

Mrs. Hazel Woodard Rites Held Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Hazel Woodard, who died at Gladewater Wednesday were held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Corley Funeral Home. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. A. J. Kirkland, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Maud Griffith, Fort Worth; three uncles, Fred, Frank and Henry Langridge, all of Corsicana; an aunt, Mrs. Ada Allen, Minden, La., and other relatives.

Pallbearers were E. F. Hamberlin, Joe T. Smith, W. E. Langston, E. K. Begley, O. B. Barton and Henry Langridge.

Daughter Born Tuesday.

A 7-pound daughter, Randie Loree, was bron Tuesday at the Navarro Clinic to Rev. and Mrs. M. H. Harry. The Rev. Mr. Harry is a Baptist minister and student in the Navarro Junior College.

The grandparents are Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Kirkland of Corsicana and Mr. and Mrs. Claud Harry of Sulphur Springs.

REP. NOKES NAMED TO IMPORTANT POSTS BY TEXAS SPEAKER

AUSTIN, Jan. 28.—(Spl.)—Representatives George O. Nokes, Jr., of Navarro county was named chairman of the Interstate Cooperation committee Tuesday by W. O. Reed of Dallas, speaker of the House of Representatitves.

In addition, Rep. Nokes was appointed a member of four other important house committees. They include commitetes on Education, Banks and Banking, Judicial Districts, and Health.

Rep. Nokes said that the Interstate Cooperation committee will likely be called upon to confer with members of the New Mexico legislature in an effort to coordinate cattle sanitatiton laws of the two states. "The recent outbreak of the hoof and mouth disease among cattle in Texas is demonstrating the importance of closer coporeation with other states in arresting this disease," he said. "New Mexico has very stringent livestock laws while Texas livestock laws are dangerously lax," he added.

Redistricting Studied

Referring to his appointment to the Judicial Districts committee, Rep. Nokes pointed out that Governor Beauford H. Jester, in his message to the Legislature Tuesday, urged a complete judicial redistricting program. In a succinct review of the judicial situation, Governor Jester stated that many judicial districts are over-burdened with litigation while other districts are comparatively inactive.

Pending health legislation will be another important item on the Legislature's calendar this year, Nokes said. Texas ranks 46th among the other states in adequate health facilities, Nokes pointed out, adding that the house would soon consider Governor Jester's recommendation that three million dollars be appropriated this biennium for an expanded health program. The appropriation would increase state expenditures on public health from eight cents per capita to 50 cents per capita, and elevate Texas from 46th place to approximately fifth place.

Rep. Nokes said he is introducing a bill which will provide adequate funds for the proper administration of a law passed by the 49th Legislature requiring water works and sewage plant operators to have a certificate of competency from the State Department of Health.

his condition was described this morning as "serious", the dazed Collins told police:

"I was badly treated and had to fight my way out."

Reliable informants said British orders clamping martial law in Tel Aviv Petah Tikvah and Ramat Gan had been rescinded early today. The British had issued an ultimatum that martial law would be invoked if Collins were not released by 5 p. m. yesterday. He did not gain his freedom until some five hours later.

Police banned all interviews with Collins and even limited official interrogations to brief periods.

Other Briton Freed

He was the second abducted Briton to regain his freedom in 24 hours. Judge Ralph Windham, seized from his courtroom in Tel Aviv Monday, was freed unharmed Tuesday night.

Both men apparently were kidnaped to guarantee the safety of Dov Bela Gruner, a 33-year-old Jew, convicted for his part in the attack on a Palestine police station and sentenced to hang. The sentence has been stayed to permit an appeal to the privy council, Britian's Supreme Court.

Collins was chloroformed and batted on the head with an axe handle Sunday night when underground members spirited him away from his home. His head still was bandaged when he regained his freedom last night.

place last year after the war ended."

These were not normal, but "a passing phenomenon resulting from a national economic upheaval," the labor chiefs asserted.

Therefore, the council said, it would be tragic for congress "to use the abnormal occurences of 1946 as the basis for reorganizing by ill-considered and punitive legislation the whole system of free effective collective bargaining."

One high official meanwhile explained yesterday's snarl over the proposed rent order as simply a government agency "mixup."

President Truman scotched the order the minute it "came to the attention of the White House," this official told a reporter, adding:

"It seems to be quite definite there will be no across-the-board increase at this time."

OTC Issues Order.

The official, who would not permit use of his name, said the order went from Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming's Office of Temporary Controls to OPA during Fleming's absence from the city.

But just how it happened is "still something of a mystery," the official said.

He explained, however, that an order relaxing rent controls to benefit individual landlord "hardship" cases was being drawn up and that the 10 per cent increase plan apparently got into the picture as a possible alternative.

Confusing Events Follow.

At the end of the confusing chain of events the situation was this:

President Truman still hopes the government can hold the line on rent controls, but it leaving the decision to congress:

Before the White House handed out this announcement late yesterday, there was a rapid-fire sequence:

1. Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), a member of the senate banking committee, told a reporter he understood OPA was ready to announce the increase.

2. OPA's public relations branch advised newsmen a rent ceiling order would be forthcoming soon.

Announcement Spiked.

3. Something over an hour later OPA called off its announcement.

4. Press Secretary Chas. G. Ross summond White House correspondents to his office and told them the President, advised of the reported increase, declared that he had not authorized it.

Rent ceilings, which have been frozen in many parts of the country since May, 1942, affect some 16,000,000 houses and apartments sheltering 60,000,000 people.

OPA has estimated that a 10 per cent boost in these rents would cost the tenants $576,000,000 a year and jack up the cost of living index 1.3 per cent.

Welding School Will Be Conducted Here

An arc welding school is to be held in Navarro County on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 24, 25 and 26, County Agent H. C. Robinson announced Thursday.

The school will be held primarily for farmers who wish to learn something of this type of welding for use in connection with farm shops and repair and maintenance of farm equipment and machinery. It will be conducted by representatives of the A&M College Extension Service, who will furnish all materials needed and used.

It was announced that the school enrollment will be limited to ten men, and anyone interested is requested to get in touch with Robinson so that enrollment cards may be filled out. There will be no charge of any kind for the instruction, which will offer an excellent opportunity for anyone interested to learn the fundamentals of this work.

TEXAS WEATHER

ed to the coast and out over the Gulf of Mexico today and some of it wound up over Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Visibility at Baton Rouge, La., was reduced to a mile and a half.

The dust reached the lower Rio Grande Valley this morning, partially obscuring the sun on an otherwise clear day.

Skies over North and West Texas were clear in sharp contrast to the dust fogged conditions yesterday when visibility was reduced in some areas to a city block or less.

Texas weather was colder today and crisp and dry. Tomorrow it will get even colder.

Clear, Cold Today

Winds that reached 70 to 105 miles per hour over the Panhandle and West Texas yesterday had subsided. "It's a beautiful day," said a report from Amarillo. "No dust. West-northwest zephyrs seven miles per huor. Temperatures 20 degrees. Visibility unlimited."

Visibility was reduced from three to five miles today along the upper coast with such cities as Galveston, Houston and Beaumont reporting a dust haze. There was a copperish tinge to the atmosphere as far south as Corpus Christi.

Low temperatures of 21 degrees were reported today at Pampa, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Storm Becomes Serious.

In extreme West Texas, Guadalupe Pass, through which winds whipped at 105 miles per hour yesterday, reported a low of 25 degrees.

Throughout most of Texas, the dust storm was merely a discomfort—tough on the eyes, nose and throat—but on a one-mile stretch of the Plainview-Tulia highway it was a hazard that wrecked at least 10 automobiles and injured at least three persons. A 60-mile wind, blowing off a freshly ploughed wheat field, reduced visibility in this area to zero. A highway patrolman said he could not see the hand in front of his face. He got out of his car, he said, and could not see the ground.

Visibility at Fort Worth was cut to one and one-half miles during the 12-hour storm but a report from that city today said "only the dusty odor remains." Dust was still visible at Austin.

Freak Tornado Hits.

A freak tornado that struck suddenly in Fort Worth during the storm yesterday afternoon ripped the roof from one house, damaged another and destroyed a garage in the same block. No one was injured.

At the White Sands, N. M., proving grounds high winds unroofed the main buildings used to assemble German V-2 rockets and flattened nine smaller structures.

Lt. Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer, said that the next V-2 firing, scheduled for Feb. 6, would be postponed for a week or two until the assembly hangar is repaired.

During the Baptist controversy, the Rev. W. L. Shuttleworth of Houston, Tex., chairman of the civic righteousness committee, said from the General Conference floor that "no Baptist school chould confer a degree" on any man who "liked" poker and drank bourbon.

Shuttleworth said at that time that not even the President of the United States "could be a good Baptist and drink his liquor."

The President never made any comment, but Baylor University announced it would confer the degree regardless of the conference action.

Former Trip Cancelled.

Subsequently Mr. Truman cancelled a scheduled trip to Waco because of labor-management controversies which plagued the nation at the time.

Ross told reporters today that Mr. Truman plans to go to the Caribbean, shortly after his return from Mexico City and Texas, to witness Atlantic fleet maneuvers.

The President probably will be with the fleet a couple of days, Ross said, although plans have not been completely worked out.

"He's going if circumstances permit," Ross said. "There is a tentative trip—to the Caribbean—in view." Ross said no information when a reporter asked if the President would stop at New Orleans on his way down to Mexico City. The secretary was inclined to believe this trip may be a non-stop flight.

Baptist Opinion Split.

At the time of the Baptist controversy, the District Baptist Conference in Washington took issue with their Texas colleagues and adopted a resolution assuring the President of their "earnest and continuous prayers."

Ross would not say whether Mr. Truman will vacation aboard the Presidential yacht Williamsburg after witnessing the fleet maneuvers.

A possibility arose that Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder would be the ranking executive in this country during at least part of the President's absence, since Secretary of State George C. Marshall is due in Moscow March 10 for the four-power foreign ministers conference.

LABOR LAWS

Before Williams appeared Pepper made clear that whenever any witnesses talk about the monopolistic power of labor unions, he and his colleagues will say in ofefct:

Business "Monopolies" Hit

"If there are labor monopolies, there are worse business monopolies. Let's do as President Truman suggested—eliminate them both at the same time. The president's message to congress proposed certain curbs on unions and also strengthening the anti-trust laws. Let's do both together."

Pepper said in an interview that both objectives should be achieved "in the very same bill." Normally bills to strengthen the anti-trust laws would go to the judiciary committee.

Pepper criticized Senator Ball (R-Minn), who has introduced four bills to change the labor laws and break up what he has described as monopolistic practices of unions.

Said Pepper: "Senator Ball and others give lip service to the idea of breaking up big business monopolies but they are not trying to pass laws to break them up."

District Supervisors, Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones, secretary; E. Creekmore and W. Lewis David, members.

Four farmers of the Corsicana work unit territory who have done outstanding work in soil conservation were visited recently by Bill Durham, regional editor of the Fort Worth Press. Glenn Bell and E. L. Watson of Barry, Petrick Brothers, and Ermond Vest and son of Emhouse, gave interesting results obtained by use of sound conservation measures.

Mr. Durham's visit was in connection with his statewide program of picking the outstanding farmers doing soil conservation wrok. "Save the Soil and Save Texas" is the slogan.

Twenty-five farmers gathered in the Allison building in Barry last Thursday afternoon to discuss ways and means of applying conservation practices on their farms during the coming planting season. Conservation Group Leaders L. O. McGraw, L. C. Boswell and E. L. Watson decided on a joint meeting of their groups. In reviewing the progress of individual members of the groups and the discussion of jobs to be done next, many helpful hints for getting the job accomplished were given. A. T. Watson, E. L. Watson, John Brawley and Glenn Bell gave valuable information from their experiences with seeding hubam clover, also seeding and sodding permanent pasture grasses.

Co-operation for conservation came to light recently when the need for equipment to plant small grass seed was made known. Brice Bonner, Eureka conservation group, R. E. Montfort, Montfort conservation, and Meigh Owens loaned planters to the Navarro-Hill district for use during the coming grass planting season. Plates and attachments for planting the grass seed have been prepared and installed. The planters will be transported from farm to farm as needed throughout the planting season.

District co-operators have treated 750 pounds of Buffalo grass seed for early spring seeding. Securing a good stand the first year of planting is the object in treating the seed. Those using the method of soaking seed in a solution, placing in cool temperature for six weeks before drying and planting, are: Luther A. Johnson, Jr., E. N. Robinson, F. A. Boyd, Robert M. FACTS ON BANKING

To Inform Our Patrons On Subjects Sometimes Misunderstood.

Defalcations

Misconception: Banks are examined regularly to make sure defalcations are not occurring.

The Fact: Bank examiners are primarily interested in bank policies—in seeing that the bank operates within the law, efficiently, and with good judgment. A bank is protected against loss from defalcations by bonding and insurance.

Service Charges

Misconceptions: Banks generally instituted service charges on checking accounts primarily to increase income.

The Fact: Within the past generation, the activity of checking accounts has increased many times over, while income from loans and investments has sharply decreased. Service charges were therefore instituted primarily to enable banks to recover the cost of services rendered.

Bank Profits

Misconceptions: Banks are making exorbitant profits.

The Fact: Bank earnings have improved recently in comparison with the substandard earnings prevalent a decade ago, but are still far below those obtained in the nineteen-twenties. Bank dividends to stockholders have also remained low to moderate because, with deposits expanding, it has seemed wise to use earnings to build up surplus and reserves to protect depositors.

Character Loans

Misconception: Anyone of good character is entitled thereby to a loan from a bank, and that to refuse a loan sought on the basis of good character alone is to question the applicant's character.

The Fact: Character and earning power, ability to repay as well as willingness to repay are fundamental requirements of all bank loans, whether to individuals or corporations. Unless the prospective borrower is able to repay a loan, he is in effect asking for a gift, not a loan.

Sam Hackney Reports on the U.S.A.

Sam Hackney and the missus just returned from a trailer trip around the country. They're tired, and glad to be home, but mighty impressed with what they saw.

As Sam reports—every section has something different; a different way of talking; different tastes in food and drink; different laws and customs. But bigger than all these differences is the American spirit of tolerance that lets us live together in united peace.

"Of course," says Sam, "you run into intolerance from time to time. Individuals who criticize another's right to speak his mind; enjoy a glass of beer; or work at any trade he chooses. But those are the exceptions—and we're even tolerant of them!"

From where I sit, more of us ought to make a trip like the Hackneys — to realize firsthand how America is bigger than its many differences ... how tolerance of those differences is the very thing that makes us strong.

U. S. CHINESE MOVE PUTS MORE PRESSURE ON BOTH FACTIONS

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.

The U. S. decision to withdraw troops and abandon mediation as a means of arriving at Chinese unity may put more pressure than ever on the contending factions there.

Some nations, including the United States, have achieved true national unity only after civil war, and that may be China's destiny. But there are forces working against as well as toward it. While they are taking shape U. S. policy may be held in suspension, but Ambassador Stuart will still have some effective tools with which to work.

Economic Help Needed.

Chief among them is China's need for economic help.

The export-import bank has earmarked half a billion dollars for the Chinese and asked them to submit, by July 31, specific plans to show that the loan will be a fair risk. President Truman has served notice that political stability and a more broadly Democratic government are essential to this. Chiang Kai-Shek's efforts to satisfy us on this score by bringing the non-Communist minorities into the government can hardly be sufficient as long as the Communists control large and important areas and there is constant fighting.

On the other hand, while U. S. policy heretofore has been a help to Chiang in many respects, it also has restrained him from an all-out military campaign against the Communists. Now that restraint is removed, and he is believed to have the edge if full scale fighting develops. In the face of this the Communists may decide that compromise is better than chancing complete defeat.

Russian Relation Discussed.

One thing should be made clear. There is not the slightest indication that Russian criticism had anything to do with the troop withdrawal. It is wholly a matter of dropping a method of procedure which failed to work.

The decision does, however, have an automatic corollary affecting relations with Russia.

We seem to be heading for a collision over Poland and the European situation generally. China was the main place where we were open to the accusation—however unjust—that we were doing the same things Russia is doing in countries where she has troops. At least that talking point has now been removed.

Roddy McDowall Suffering From In-Between Woes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30—(AP)—Bright-faced Roddy McDowall can't get the kind of movie job he wants these days because of that occupational disease dreaded by screen adolescents—the "in-between stage."

The British lad, now 18, is in an unfortunate position. He is too old to play Cornel Wilde as a boy and too young to enact Betty Grable's boy friend. Or at least so the studios think.

"This 'in-between' stuff is absolutely silly," Roddy said at his home, puffing maturely on a pipe. "If I did look a year or two too young, they could add a little makeup. A year or two doesn't make any difference in this business."

Frankly, I'm confused. The flurry of Hollywood divorces, marriages, separations and reconciliations has my head swimming. The situation raises many questions.

For instance, how do the Wynn children know whom to call daddy? Would Laraine and Leo have fared better with the law if, as Bob Hope suggested, they had taken Artie Shaw to Mexico with them as technical advisor? If Greer Garson divorces Richard Ney, who will get custody of their flower garden? And in the Johnson-Wynn affair, who will get custody of Peter Lawford? Who will be Lana Turner's next beau after Tyrone Power?

Anyway, it's more fun than a soap opera.

"Dead Reckoning" (col—97 minutes) again mines the vein of tough murder melodrama, with the usual ample ingredients of sex, corpses and beatings. Humphrey Bogart is as competent and convincing as ever as the amateur dick. This time Lizabeth Scott is his moll and she does all right, except for the fact that she opens and shuts her mouth like a purse. The film is often exciting, but could have been much better by deleting some of the phoney dialogue.

WEST TEXAS WATER DEVELOPMENT SAID ABOUT THIRD DONE

DALLAS, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Marvin C. Nichols of Fort Worth told Dallas engineers here that development of West Texas water resources—vital to other development of the area—is about one-third done.

Nichols, a civil engineer and member of the Fort Worth city plan commission, is an authority on West Texas water resources. He spoke yesterday at a joint meeting of Dallas and North Texas groups of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers and American Society of Civil Engineers.

West Texas from Dallas westward to the Plains escarpment is an area almost devoid of underground water resources, he said, and must depend upon surface storage.

Present storage in lakes located generally near population centers of the area have total annual capacity of 2,500,000 acre feet of water (three acre feet of water is the equivalent of 1,000,000 gallons.)

Annual run-off of rains in the area is 3,500,000 acre feet, he said, which could provide 2,500,000 acre feet of water annually after evaporation and other normal loss.

That amount of water would require storage facilities two or three times as great as existing facilities but would support a population three or four times as large as the present 1,500,000 persons occupying the region.

In the high planes section of the state farther west there is virtually no surface storage of water, but underground sources are comparatively plentiful.

In the last 12 years in the Plains areas, the use of irrigation wells has inrceased greatly. In 1935, there were 300 to 400 wells irrigating approximately 35,000 acres of land but at present there are 4,500 wells irrigating a half million acres.

A drop in the level of water tables in the irrigation areas, however, indicates a need for study of water supplies and usage to determine whether or not the supplies are being too rapidly depleted.

Italy Asks Part In Writing Of German Treaty

LONDON, Jan. 30—(AP)—Italy asked today for a share in the writing of the German peace treaty.

The Italian nation, which sided first with Germany and then the Allies in six years of war, said the request was morally justified by "contributions to the victory of the United Nations."

Ambassador Nicolo Carandini, Italian representative in London, entered the plea in a note to the Big Four deputy foreign ministers, who are deliberating here on German treaty problems.

American sources said the note was likely to receive favorable consideration by the U. S. delegation. The attitude of Britain, France and the Soviet Union was not immediately determined, but some western officials suggested that Russia, firm with Italy during the Paris peace conference, was not likely to approve without a fight.

Carandini's note said the request was justified by the fact that Italy had been in a state of war with Germany since Oct. 13, 1943 by "sacrifices borne by the Italian people" during the war and by their contributions to the Allied cause.

It observed that the preamble of the Italy's own peace treaty recognized her war contributions and her status as a co-belligerent.

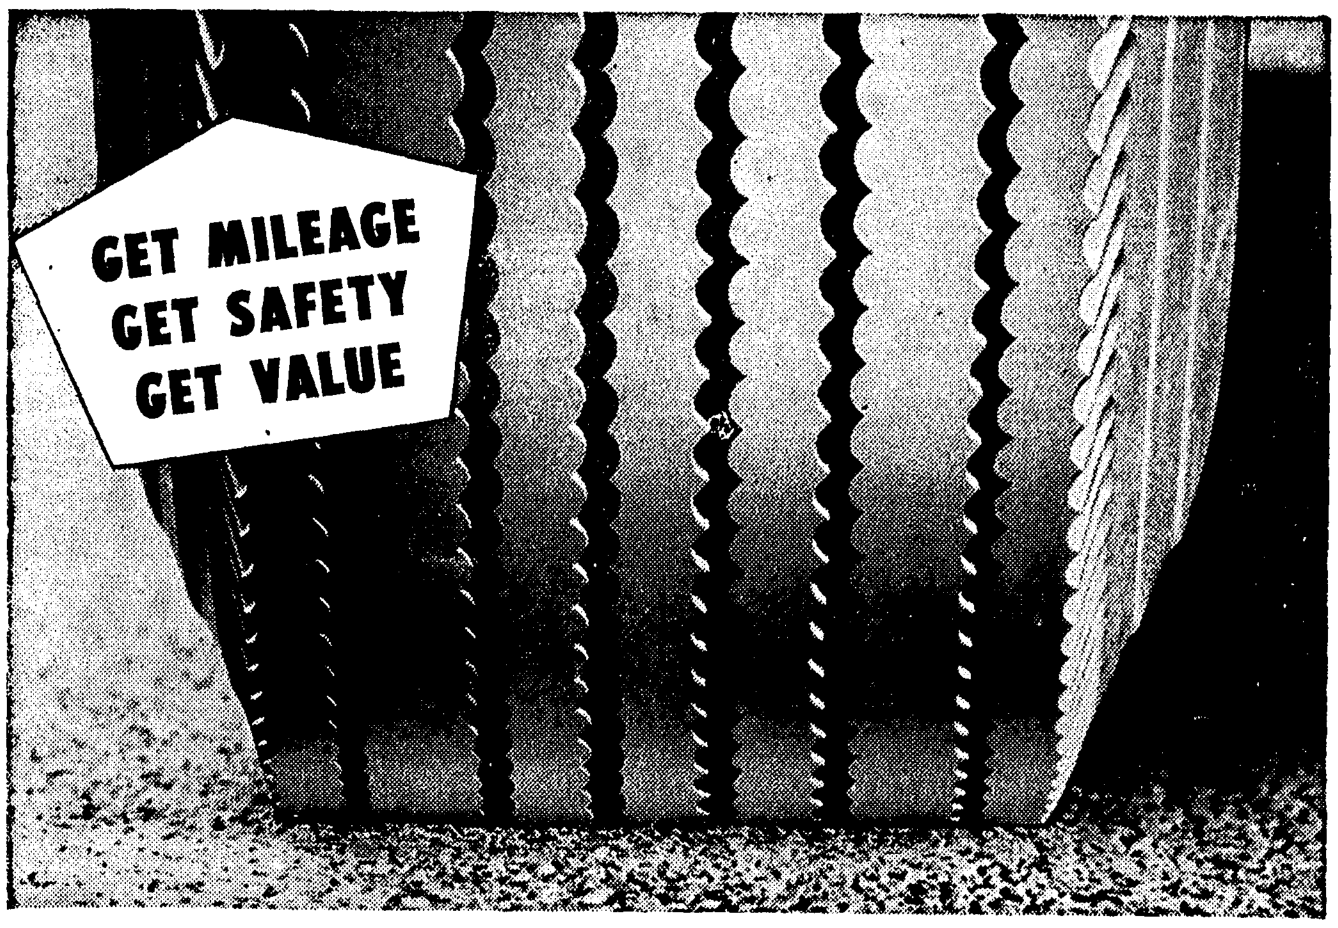
Again, B.F. Goodrich Is First As Always White Side Wall Tires Now On Display Come In And See Them



Get New B.F.Goodrich Silvertowns That OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

In that picture above is the roads-eye view of the "sole" of an auto's shoe.

You'll quickly note something special about this tread-sole . . . how broad, flat and husky it is. It was engineered that way. It's the tread of the postwar B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

That broadness and huskiness give the tread more contact with the road . . . less wear at any point . . . one of the reasons it gives better than prewar mileage.

The other reason is built into the tire . . . a 35% stronger cord body, engineered especially to carry this husky tread and give better resistance to road shock and blowouts.

Of course, a tire that goes farther and safer is a better tire . . . a better buy . . . more tire for the money . . . the best tire for you, today.

And remember, it's wise economy to put a new B. F. Goodrich tube . . . the tougher tube that increases tire mileage and holds air many times longer . . . in your new tire.

SMU PROFESSOR IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY SESSION WEDNESDAY

"WHAT KIND OF DAD ARE YOU" KEYNOTE OF CLUB ADDRESS

"What kind of dad are you anyway?"

This question was hurled at members of the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Navarro Hotel Wednesday by Dr. H. L. Pritchett, student counsellor and professor of sociology at Southern Methodist University, as he discussed the ever-increasing decline in relationship between parent and child.

"I wanted my dad—but he only gave me things."

"I wanted my dad—it's him I want, not things."

These two statements were predominating in term papers just submitted by SMU students in sociology in answer to a question regarding their own lives with their parents, Dr. Pritchett said.

"Sit down and let your kid talk," he warned members of the club. "Boys and girls need a dad with whom they can talk, and who won't criticize their attempts to do so. The feeling in a child of being unwanted, unloved, is the most dangerous thing a child can have. It warps his personality and shakes his very foundation. The greatest fear we have is that we do not have that love relationship."

Deploring the trend that sees "the family institution going on the rocks in ever increasing numbers," Dr. Pritchett declared that the "family is the foundation on which all other social institutions rest."

"No nation, however great, has ever resisted its crumbling," he said.

Discussing the social and emotional conditioning process of a child, the sociologist charged that today's husband and father is "trying to live in the economic range only."

"Marriage today is more of a companionship. Men say 'My job is to make money.' They have been pulling out of the picture pretty much," he said.

"You must remember that a child has to have a father and a mother to develop normally. These early-life attitudes last forever. They are the foundations upon which a child's personality is built. And we as adults are responsible for what kind of personalities come out of our families.

"Take stock of yourselves. What have you been doing?"

"It's time we did some thinking on factual things. We're so busy with business."

Dr. Pritchett, who spoke earlier in the day at Navarro Junior College, was introduced by Rev. Finis Crutchfield.

PANTHERS DOWN HILL COUNTY JRS., 22-16, LEADING WHOLE GAME

FOURTH QUARTER RALLY SPIKED BY LOCALS TO KEEP PERFECT RECORD

The Junior High school Panther cagers kept their no-loss record intact Monday night at the Junior High court, lacing the Hillsboro Juniors 22-16 to make it two in a row over Hill county Juniors.

Coach J. H. Compton's versatile five led the Hillsboro club all the way, and turned back a forth quarter rally to maintain their six point lead at the finish. The game was a return affair, since the Panthers trimmed the same team in Hillsboro last week 26-11.

Every playing member of the Panthers scored last night. Bristow and Crawford had five points each to tie for high point honors. The locals played a smart game, and it was not until near the end of the tilt that the game got rough and the fouls plentiful on both sides.

Orville Langston, lanky Panther center, did outstanding work under the basket for the locals, taking a big percentage of balls off the backboard on both offense and defense. Gibson was high for the visitors with 7 points.

REPUBLICAN LEADER URGES COUNTIANS TO SECURE POLL TAXES

Corsicana and Navarro county citizens entitled to vote were urged by Mose Blumrosen, Navarro county Republican chairman, to secure their city and county poll tax receipts before February so they could participate in any election that may be held during the year. There were ten elections last year.

A municipal election will be held as well as school trustee, county trustees and junior college elections during 1947, while special and constitutional amendment elections may be called.

The Republican leader also stressed the necessity of procuring exemptions throughout the county for those entitled to vote who have become 21 years of age since January 1, 1945. Exempitons are required for persons over 60 years old in Corsicana, although over 60 exemptions are not necessary in the precincts outside of Corsicana.

COUNTY AGENT GIVES INFORMATION ABOUT HOOF-MOUTH DISEASE

Cognizant of the apprehension in the state over the threat of foot and mouth disease in cattle, H. C. Robinson, county agent, Monday explained the causes and effects of the scourge.

The disease is very widespread in various portions of the world, he said, and since the recent outbreak in Mexico, the only continent free from infection is Australia. It is especially prevalent in parts of Asia and South America.

Foot and mouth disease is caused by a virus too small to be seen even with a powerful microscope. But it kills and cripples and causes heavy losses in the acute stages.

It severely lowers production of meat and milk by the animals that survive; causes blisters in the mouth, severe lameness and a high fever, and affects cloven-footed animals, such as cattle, hogs, deer, goats and sheep. Hogs sometimes lose completely the outer hoof and walk on their knees.

Little Risk to Man.

Fortunotely, there is little risk to man from either infected animals or meat. Even, if acquired, the infection in human beings is not serious. The practical importance of the disease to man is the threat to his food supply.

Its seriousness has long been recognized, and stringent regulations dating as far back as 1875 have been invoked to prevent its gaining a foothold in the United States. These have included the stopping of importation of live animals, fresh or frozen meats and even garbage from ships from countries where the disease exists.

Outbreak in Mexico.

Regarding the recent outbreak in Mexico, E. A. Grist, extension veterinarian of the A. and M. College reports that thus far no cases of the disease have been reported further north than about the middle of the states of Vera Cruz and Hidalgo. A survey by a joint United States and Mexico veterinary group is now being undertaken, with a view of determining the extent of infection and possible control and eradication measures.

Officials of the bureau of animal husbandry and the state veterinarians office are taking every known measure and precaution to prevent its entry from across the border. However, they caution, this may prove a very difficult task, as the infection may be carried from place to place by persons, vehicles, on articles of commerce, by roving animals or birds.

They request all livestock owners to be on the alert for symptoms of the deisease, and if suspected to the following: (1) Isolate suspected animals; (2) keep visitors away; (3) call your veterinarian immediately.

Announce Arrival of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Craig of Richland announce the arrival of a five pound, 12-ounce son, Johnny Frank, Monday morning, January 13, at the Navarro Clinic. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. M. J. Craig of Garland.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fortson and daughter, Doris, of Rice were Corsicana visitors on Sunday.

JOHN R. CORLEY IS REELECTED CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEAD

NO ACTION TAKEN ON NAMING NEW MANAGER; 11 DIRECTORS CHOSEN

John R. Corley, funeral service director, was re-elected president of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization Tuesday morning.

With the installation of new directors and election of officer, the chamber launched its 1947 activities with but one exception. No action has been taken as yet on selcetion of a manager to succeed E. C. Mueller, whose resignation becomes effective March 1.

New Manager Studied.

Corley announced that the committee in charge of selecting a new manager had received several applications and had held one meeting. The group consists of B. L. Sanders, N. Suttle Roberts, J. M. Dyer, H. M. Montgomery and Louis Wolens.

Election of 1947 officers and directors caused little change in the current setup.

One new officer was named by the directors. He is Sidney Brietz, who succeeded Roberts as second vice president.

Montgomery was re-elected first vice president, Sanders, treasurer.

New Directors.

Three new directors were among the eleven selected by membrs. They are R. R. Rubottom, R. G. Thompson and Louis Wolens.

Directors re-elected included F. H. Harvey, I. C. Smith, Dyer, Sanders, Brietz, J. F. Adams, T. L. Carlisle and Joe E. Butler.

Holdover directors are O. L. Albrtiton, Ralph R. Brown, Hubert Braselton, John C. Calhoun, Corley, W. E. McKinney, A F. Mitchell, Montgomery, Festus A. Pierce R. S. Reading and Will Thompson.

The full strength of 25 will be reached when Corley names three more to serve in this capacity.

Corley told the directors, in accepting the post for a second year, that "there is a big future in front of us, which can be limited only by our lack of enthusiasm and endeavor."

He expressed regret that Mueller was leaving the organization.

A committee consisting of Carlisle, Layton Dawson and McKinney were named to draft resolutions on the death of Joe Wolens, a member of the board of directors.
